Light Plane Lost

Pilot Overdue On Island Trip

Special to The Colonist

A pilot flying a small aircraft had been missing for more than nine hours at midnight Tuesday while northbound along the British Columbia coast from Vancouver Island.

The pilot could not be identified until the R.C.A.F. Air-Sea Rescue squadron at Vancouver notified next of kin.

A high-speed launch from squadron headquarters was scheduled to leave Vancouver at dawn today to cover the flight route from Port Hardy to Annette Island.

Port Hardy is on the northern tip of Vancouver Island. Annette Island is about 315 nautical miles north, 70 miles north-northwest of Prince Rupert.

The plane is a Taylorcraft, an American make. It has wheels, a single motor, is painted cream and has red wings. Its serial number is N-43006. This is an Alaskan registration.

The plane left Port Hardy at 3:32 p.m., P.D.T. Its flight plan called for a trip up the coast with a projected four hours and 15 minutes time limit.

WEATHER FAIR

Weather along the route ran from poor to fair at the time the flight plan was filed.

R.C.A.F. at 9 p.m. yesterday were notified that the plane was overdue. The plane was listed officially missing because it had to run out of fuel at that time.

All ships and stations to the north were notified through the R.C.A.F. and the B.C. Telephone marine radio network.

The pilot faced a prolonged bout with the weather on his trip. The coast route is hazardous at all times but is particularly so for a small aircraft equipped with only a six-hour fuel supply.

NO FIELDS

A B-35 U.S. bomber, flying a similar route from north to south in February burst into flames and five men were lost from the 17 men who parachuted over Princess Royal Island.

There are no emergency landing fields along the coast from Port Hardy as far north as Prince Rupert.

R.C.A.F. officials say the missing aircraft's flight plan projected a route directly up the coast.

Bombs Loaded for Korean War

Attack cargo ship Achernar is shown being loaded with 500-pound bombs at Long Beach, Calif., as the First Marine Air Wing prepared to sail for the Korean war yesterday. Men and equipment of the unit will go to Korea on navy transport ships, and their aircraft will be sent aboard a carrier from San Diego.

Eisenhower, Marshall Called For Secret Talk With Truman

By ROBERT G. NIXON

WASHINGTON, July 11 (INS).—President Truman has brought into consultation on the Korean war General Dwight D. Eisenhower and George C. Marshall, top five-star commanders of American forces in the world war.

The President has turned to Marshall, the man who sparked the army's global victory from Washington, and to Eisenhower, who led Allied forces to victory in Europe for assistance in the present world crisis.

International News Service is able to disclose exclusively today that the President has been in conference with Eisenhower and Marshall, army chief of staff and crack strategist in the last war.

The President held a secret conference with these two retired military leaders at Blair House.

Marshall is now president of the Red Cross, after previously serving as Mr. Truman's Secretary of State when the President formulated his stern policy of halting the spread of Communism over Europe.

Marshall was Secretary of State when he authorized the "Marshall Plan" and the President stood before a joint session of Congress and declared that the United States must send military assistance to Greece and Turkey to keep those two Communist-beset countries from falling.

Eisenhower is now president of Columbia University and is being mentioned as a candidate for President in 1952.

Both generals, although retired, still hold their status as five-star generals, and can be called back to active duty by the President at any time.

The White House would not say whether the President planned to do this. It was learned, however, that Mr. Truman intends to consult with these two military leaders frequently in the developing Korean situation. He will seek especially their advice on the global implications of the Communist aggression in Korea.

The discussion dwelt immediately upon the Communist aggression in Korea and the steps to be taken by the United States to repel that invasion.

But the secret meeting covered a much wider scope. The President obtained the views of the two generals on the whole impact of the Communist aggression in Korea on the world, possible further Communist thrusts in other parts of the globe, and the grave question of whether there will be a third world war growing out of the Korean conflict.

The meeting between the President and the two outstanding generals of the last war was held in great secrecy. Unusual precautions were taken to prevent a leakage of the fact that the conference was held.

Sawmill officials announced they would be able to operate the plant tomorrow. An intensive investigation into cause of the fire has been ordered.

Strachey Apologizes for Remarks On Schuman Plan; Receives Rebuke

LONDON, July 11 (AP).—War Minister John Strachey publicly apologized today and took an open rebuke from Prime Minister Clement Attlee besides—after calling the Schuman Plan a scheme against the people of Europe.

The unusual scene in the House of Commons revived speculation about Strachey's future in the Labor Government. Long a storm centre because of his one-time sympathies for Communism, he has had Attlee for a staunch defender until now.

The Commons debate ended tonight with no attempt by the Conservatives to censure the Labor Government formally.

Winston Churchill, Conservative leader who had demanded the debate on the remarks for which Strachey apologized in part, declared the War Minister had "furnished us with another instance proving that he is unfit to hold his present position."

In a speech at Colchester, July 1, Strachey spoke bitterly of a supranational authority which Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France wants set up to direct a projected pool of Western Europe's coal and steel production.

"The people of Europe and of Britain are getting hold of economic power," Strachey said then. "All this is an alarm bell to the great capitalist interests of Europe. Therefore they put up this sort of plan, by which the real power in these industries is put in the hands of an irresponsible international body free from all democratic control."

Explaining himself in the House today, Strachey said:

"I stand by the essential thing which I said at Colchester—that I could not accept handing over the

Powerful Red Offensive Throws Americans Back

Driven Over Last River In Front of Vital Taejon

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN

TOKIO, July 12 (Wednesday) (INS).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today that a barbarous North Korean enemy reportedly using some Korean veterans who had fought beside "Chinese Communist forces" has forced the Americans to retreat back to the south bank of the Kum River.

The Kum River protecting the vital United States rail supply city of Taejon is the last natural barrier before the city. It loops only eight miles from Taejon on the north side and 13 miles on the northwest.

In a series of communiques in which he accused the enemy of acts of "barbarity and murder" against civilian Americans, the supreme commander of United Nations forces made his tactical announcement about the retreat across the Kum River.

One line in the communique said "American forces have fallen back of the Kum River."

May Submit U.K. Plan To Stalin

LONDON, July 11 (INS).—Diplomatic quarters believe tonight that Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Gromyko has agreed to submit to Premier Stalin British proposals to end the Korean war.

Prime Minister Attlee is expected to confer tomorrow with Foreign Secretary Bevin on the latest conversations between Gromyko and British Ambassador to Moscow David Kelly.

Some sources said that Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps may be sent to Moscow to confer with high Russian officials if present conversations prove satisfactory. Kelly conferred again with Gromyko today, but the British Foreign Office said that no information was available immediately.

NO INFORMATION
(The British Embassy in Moscow said Korean affairs in general were discussed and Kelly asked about British Minister to Korea Vyvyan Holt, missing since early in the fighting, and the Bishop of Seoul.

Gromyko was said to have replied that the Soviet Government does not yet have any information on the whereabouts of the missing men.

Bothmen-Minister John Nichols then conferred with American Embassy Counselor Walworth Barbour and with the counselors of the Canadian and Australian Embassies in Moscow.

A British official said yesterday that Gromyko and Kelly were trying to "pick each other's brains" in the discussions in the hope of finding a basis for later talks.

Italy Ready For Quislings

ROME, July 11 (AP).—Premier Alcide De Gasperi warned Communists tonight that his Government is ready to smash any fifth-column attempts in Italy.

"The Government at any cost, at any price and at any sacrifice, will have the strength to do it," the Christian Democratic Premier said during a stormy Chamber of Deputies debate on the Korean War.

In other air action, American and Australian planes destroyed six enemy tanks and 51 trucks and met opposition from North Korean Yak fighters for the first time in a week.

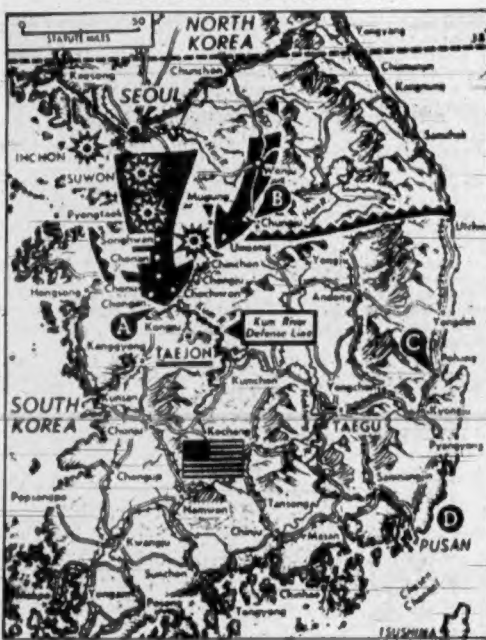

Primary concentrations of Par East forces and R.A.F. aircraft hit targets in the western sector southeast of Suwon and north of Kogonju, it said. Approximately 150 combat sorties were flown during the day.

North Korean air opposition appeared for the first time in more than a week when two Yak fighters fired three bursts from behind at an F-80 flying seven miles north of Chongju. The F-80 had completed its mission and was returning to base with insufficient ammunition and fuel to support an engagement.

SUCCESS REPORTED
Fifth air force F-80's accounted for a major part of the damage suffered by North Korean forces. More than 100 sorties were flown against targets at Suwon, Chonan, Chongju, Chongju and Chinchon. Uniformly successful results were experienced in ground strafing and rocket attacks.

Ceiling Falls On Patrons
RICHMOND, Va., July 11 (AP).—A portion of the ceiling in the Park Theatre here collapsed this afternoon, injuring 16 persons. No one was killed, police said.

Americans Hurlled Across River

American defenders have been hurled back to positions on the south bank of the Kum River, last barrier of any consequence north of Taejon, South Korea, by a heavy Communist tank drive in the Chonchi-Chochiwon area (A). A second supporting drive to the east (B) was claimed by the Communist radio to have captured Umsong, Pohang (C) on Yongil Bay, was raided by four twin-engineered Red bombers yesterday. About 60 miles to the south is Pusan (D), main port through which U.S. supplies are being funneled.

MacArthur Says Stories Of Red Atrocities Proved

TOKIO, July 12 (Wednesday) (AP).—General Douglas MacArthur announced today documentary proof had been received substantiating reports of "barbarity and murder" of American prisoners of war by North Korean troops.

A headquarters communique said the alleged atrocities had been committed against four American soldiers who had been captured by the Reds.

Field dispatches from Korea, however, indicated at least 18 American soldiers have been bound and shot to death by their Red captors.

BLAMES LEADERS
MacArthur's spokesman said the general was "astounded by these barbaric acts and holds the leadership of the North Koreans responsible for permitting these uncivilized actions."

"Mad Texan"
The communique warned: "The murder of prisoners of war is a violation of the laws and customs of war and the perpetrators of such offenses as well as leaders who order, cause, or permit the same, are subject to the death penalty when imposed by military tribunals."

"The world has been shocked by these atrocities which violate the precepts of civilization."

The communique said official photographs show the bodies of the four American soldiers with their hands tied behind their backs.

The front line reports that 18 American soldiers had been shot after being captured were the result of a careful sifting of eyewitness accounts.

Tankman Loses Temper, Hits Reds With Bazooka

By CHARLES D. ROSECRANS, JR., International News-photos Staff Photographer

SOMEWHERE ON THE KOREAN FRONT, July 12 (Wednesday) (INS).—Sweaty, tired American soldiers told the story today of the "Mad Texan," the Lone Star State's hero in the first Korean tank battle.

They identified him as J. R. Glaze of Dallas, a tankman who is not supposed to fight on the ground, but who knocked out two Communist tanks with a bazooka he snatched from infantrymen after his own light American tank was set afire, Tuesday.

TANK VICTIM
The North Koreans have bigger tanks and bigger guns, and the tank commanded by Glaze soon was a victim.

Glaze's tank began firing at a range of 250 yards and continued blasting away in vain. The shells from the light American tank could not pierce the heavy Communist armor.

The heavy Russian-made tank kept coming straight for Glaze's machine and set his tank ablaze at 30-yard range.

The courageous Texan leaped from the flaming tank and escaped to shelter with a group of infantrymen. But that was not enough. He borrowed a bazooka and then went back into action.

TEN-YARD RANGE
The men said he was really mad and his jaw was jutting out. He ran within ten-yard range of the Communist tank that had got his

Preview of Things to Come

Officers, Scientists See Guided Missile Display

PASADENA, Calif., July 11 (INS).

A dazzling display of guided missile pyrotechnics was witnessed today by army ordnance officers and California Institute of Technology jet propulsion laboratory scientists.

The preview of things to come in the guided missile field was staged at White Sands, N.M., proving ground where the army's fifth model of its "Ordnit" was fired.

The "Ordnit" is the first large experimental guided missile to be wholly designed by United States technicians. The 44-foot rocket, controlled by an autopilot, followed its course at an estimated 2,000 miles per hour and hit well within the desired range of accuracy.

MORE THAN 100 MILES
On their return to Pasadena Caltech scientists disclosed that the rocket, strictly an experimental missile, is powered by an acid-aniline motor which develops 1,200 horsepower per pound—44 weight. The big prototype missile is capable of carrying a large payload for a distance in excess of 100 miles.

Dr. Louis Dunn, director of the Caltech jet laboratory, said, the missile is designed and developed for the specific purpose of studying the problems of controlled rockets. He said it is not a military tactical weapon.

The second in the series of rocket developments was the "Wac Corporal" line of guided missiles, first fired in 1946. The "Wac" was mounted in the nose of a German V-2 and fired when the V-2 reached its maximum altitude. The "Wac" then went to a height of 250 miles—the highest any man-made rocket has ever gone.

Although the speed of the "Ordnit" in today's test was approximately 2,000 miles per hour (3,000 feet per second), it can attain a much higher velocity, Dr. Dunn stated. The missile is much slimmer than the German V-2, having a diameter of only 30 inches. Maximum diameter of the V-2 was 65 inches.

Fire on Board Canadian Ship

DURBAN, South Africa, July 11 (Reuters).—Firemen were standing by tonight to deal with fire which broke out in the bunkers of the Canadian ship, Yale County, in port here.

Pacific Coast Humming With War Supply Action

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11 (AP).—Men, munitions, ships, supplies and aircraft were moving to the Orient today from West Coast ports and stations.

All along the coast there was a step-up in tempo to get troops, armor and supplies moving toward Korea.

The liner General W. H. Gordon was ready to sail from San Francisco tonight with 1,350 soldiers to be used as replacements in the far Pacific.

U.S. Railmen Reject Offer; Won't Strike

CHICAGO, July 11 (INS).—Representatives of two major railroad unions tonight unanimously rejected the findings of a Presidential fact-finding board, but indicated they would not strike in view of the present Korean emergency.

The more than 250,000 members of the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors and the Order of Railway Trainmen had been scheduled to walk out across the nation Saturday.

The decision to reject the findings of the fact-finding board came following a meeting of 350 general chairmen of both unions in Chicago.

Both unions are asking for a 40-hour work week with no decrease in pay. Members of the two groups currently work a 48-hour week.

The board recommended an 18-cent hourly boost in pay and a 40-hour work week. The unions termed the decision of the panel "one-sided."

Spokesmen for the two unions said new negotiations with the National Railway Mediation Board would begin on Friday, adding they were "completely ignoring" the findings of the latest fact-finding board.

Two American Newsmen Killed in Korean Battle

By JOHN RICH

ADVANCE—U.S. HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 11 (INS).—A front line officer reported to U.S. field headquarters in Korea tonight that two American war correspondents were killed in Monday's fighting—the first newsmen to lose their lives in the Korean conflict.

They were presumed to be International News Service correspondents Ray Cichards and Cpl. Ernie Peeler of the army newspaper Pacific Stars and Stripes.

A dispatch to headquarters from a regimental adjutant, Capt. Downey, told of two correspondents being killed but did not identify them. His dispatch was believed to confirm earlier reports the army received that Cichards and Peeler were victims of a Communist assault that overran an American front-line outpost they were visiting to obtain eyewitness descriptions of the fighting.

Richards, 34, was last heard from Sunday night after going to the front to view wreckage of enemy tanks smashed in an American air raid along the Chonan-Taejon road.

His last dispatch, filed Sunday just before he returned to the front, gave eyewitness descriptions of the American "lost battalion" which fought its way through encircling Red forces north of Chonan to rejoin its regiment.

"Several of Richards' dispatches were printed in The Daily Colonist," his last report after returning to the front was made in a note to this correspondent, written in long-hand, which said:

"Dear John—There is artillery fire south of Chonan. I am staying here for the time being and letting my jeep go back. See you later—Ray."

Richards was a newspaperman for 40 years and a veteran of Far East coverage who covered the Japanese occupation of China before Pearl Harbor.

His front line eyewitness coverage of the Korean invasion for International News Service won him journalistic acclaim.

Before going to the Orient he won high standing as a reporter, feature writer and editor on various American newspapers.

We began his journalistic career in 1910 as a reporter on The Tulsa (Okla.) Daily World and subsequently worked in Montana, Colorado, Honolulu, California and Washington, D.C.

In Denver he worked alongside such immortals of the newsroom as Damon Runyon and Gene Fowler, before becoming city editor of The Morning Post there.

He returned to the Far East in 1948 and joined International News Service at the outbreak of the Communist invasion of South Korea.

In the first days of the fighting he obtained the first dramatic account of the invasion's progress by flying low over the battle lines.

Thug Wounds Policemen After Holdups

MONTREAL, July 11 (AP).—Two city policemen were shot and wounded by a nervous young gunman and more than $5,000 in loot was taken in two holdups today.

Constables Paul-Emile Dagenais and Marcel Mascarin were shot within minutes of each other after a blond youth held up a Northeast End watch repair store. In an earlier robbery four men took $5,000 in rings from a West End jewelry store after beating up a clerk.

Dagenais, whose wound was not serious, was shot as he tried to halt the youth fleeing from the Union Watch Repair Company where a watch and a bag of wrist watch bracelets were taken.

Mascarin suffered a wound in the right hip as he entered a drug store, ten blocks away, where a youth was buying cigarettes. The gunman, said by police to have been the one who earlier held up the watch repair firm, whirled and fired on the officer and fled.

The jewelry store holdup occurred in Industrial St. Henri Ward where four men drove up to the store of J. P. Lemarrie. Two masked men entered the store and took six dozen diamond rings after beating up Bernard Coupal, a clerk.

Scottish Miners Expected To Return to Work Today

LONDON, July 11 (Reuters).—Tomorrow is likely to be "back to work" day in two strike-hit areas of Britain. The wage strike of London meat and provision distribution workers ended at midnight tonight, after 17 days, while in Scotland many of the 18,000 coal miners on strike are expected to return to work.

The president of the Scottish miners, Abe Moffat, warned strikers that they may lose their holiday pay if they do not return to the pits.

The miners are striking in protest against the refusal of the state-run industry to grant wage increases to lower-paid miners.

Sixty-five pits were affected by the strike today—more than at any time since it began nine days ago. Loss of production has been 128,000 tons.

U.N. Allies May Send Ground Forces to Korea

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP).—Gen. Omar Bradley was reported to have told United States senators today that ground troops from other United Nations countries would join American and South Korean soldiers fighting in Red-invaded South Korea, but there were some indications that this aid may be only of a "token" nature.

Bradley was quoted by Senator Millard Tydings (Dem., Md.) as saying that some of the United States' United Nations allies had offered troops, and the others have been accepted.

(The Canadian Parliament has been assured that it will be recalled before any action is taken towards sending ground troops to Korea.)

Tydings, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said Bradley made the statement during a two-hour closed-door session with the committee.

However, another senator, who asked that his name be withheld, told reporters he understood only token forces would be involved. He said several Latin American countries have offered small fighting contingents.

The possibility that Pakistan may offer troops was suggested by a Pakistan delegation spokesman at Lake Success. He said the question is under consideration at Karachi.

Bradley appeared before the Senate committee to sketch current events in the Korean War and possible dangers of the future.

"It would be a disservice to the American people to treat events in Korea with optimism," Tydings told reporters.

"We all should realize the difficulties that confront the nation and the free democratic world."

Pleven Heads French Cabinet

PARIS, July 11 (AP).—The National Assembly today confirmed René Pleven as France's 13th Premier in two weeks, and endorsed his plan for a 20 per cent increase in French defence spending.

He is expected to complete his Cabinet tomorrow. His chances of forming a Government once more depend on whether the Socialists, with 98 seats in the National Assembly, agree to join in.

If they do not, it is unlikely that Pleven can count on the support of Mouvement Republicain Populaire, which has 181 seats. Pleven himself heads the small Socialist and Democratic Union of the Resistance.

Both voted for Pleven today, giving him 373 votes against the Opposition of 185 Communists, near-Communists and three right-wing deputies. There were 35 abstentions.

PAPAL VACATION

VATICAN CITY, July 11 (AP).—Pope Pius has been advised by his physicians to go to his summer palace in the Alban Hills near Rome a month earlier this year, and the Pontiff may leave the Vatican this week-end, Vatican sources reported.

The heavy strain of Holy Year ceremonies and audiences, plus Rome's intense early summer heat this year, reportedly prompted the decision of Papal physician Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi Lili, Vatican sources said. The 74-year-old Pontiff appears fatigued, they added.

World Briefs on Korean War

TOKIO, July 11 (INS).—One of the big puzzles of the Korean war today is:

Where are the North Korean Communists getting the gasoline to keep their tanks rolling?

It was thought that American air raids which destroyed communication lines from Pyongyang, the Red capital, south into invaded territory would succeed in crippling the tanks by cutting off their fuel sources.

But the tanks are still moving and there is no sign that their fuel supply is running low.

LONDON, July 11 (INS).—Radio Moscow broadcast a report tonight that North Korean forces are "advancing on all fronts" and inflicting heavy losses on the United States and South Korean troops opposing them.

WASHINGTON, July 11 (INS).—American military spokesmen confirmed tonight that Russia has tanks considered superior to any available for use by the United States army.

The Soviet 50-ton Joseph Stalin tanks are under study for bringing several other ships back into service for the same purpose, reports were informed.

There was no immediate identification of the name or location of the two escort carriers.

TOKIO, July 12 (Wednesday) (INS).—Col. Robert R. Martin, of Toledo, Ohio, who was killed in action, today was awarded posthumously the first Distinguished Service Cross given in the Korean war.

NEW YORK, July 11 (INS).—The National Broadcasting Company reported tonight that the Russians "are attempting to jam American radio broadcasts from Tokyo."

N.B.C. said that a broadcast made by George Thomas Foster from Tokyo was affected by jamming.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., July 11 (AP).—Gen. MacArthur, Supreme Commander of United Nations forces in Korea, has ordered 400 blue and white United Nations flags for his forces, the United Nations announced today.

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP).—The United States Navy said today that the French Far Eastern Fleet has been ordered to outfit one warship for service in Korean waters. The ship will come from the French force now operating in Indo-China waters.

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP).—American travelers aren't letting the Korean fighting upset their plans.

No rise is shown in cancellation of passage on outbound ships and planes, and there is plenty of empty space on planes returning to United States from overseas.

TOKIO, July 11 (AP).—The first shipment of whole blood has been flown to American soldiers on the South Korean battlefield.

September 30 Draft Date

WASHINGTON, July 11 (INS).—State draft directors today were ordered to furnish 20,000 men to the armed forces by September 30, in the military expansion program made necessary by the Korean war.

Maj.-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service chief, issued the order after receiving a formal request from the National Munitions Board for 20,000 inductees.

CHINESE REDS MOVE

HONGKONG, July 11 (AP).—Independent newspapers in Hongkong claimed today that Gen. Lin Pao's Chinese Communist troops are moving to Manchuria at Russian direction to support the North Koreans.

The newspaper Sing Tao Jih Pao said 10,000 of Lin's Fourth Army, now stationed in South China, is headed north. Other Hongkong papers said part of Lin's Fourth also is being sent to the border of French Indo-China.

The dispersion of Lin's forces has been reported previously. Most reports have said, however, that his troops were moving to the South-east coast of China to attempt the invasion of Nationalist Formosa.

Woodwork and Songs Featured in Saanich Playground Opening

Saanich playgrounds opened Monday, bringing a rich program of fun and instruction to scores of youngsters. Above, J. E. Tait teaches a group how to make plywood birdhouses at Qu'Appelle Park. He spends one day a week at each park.

Saanich children sit in a circle to warble a song of Summer at Oak Street Park. Singing is one of many activities at Saanich playgrounds, which opened Monday. Instructors are, left: Helene de la Hite and Ruth Miller, chief supervisor.

Victoria Started as Company Town, School Inspector Informs Kiwanians

Victoria was once a "company town," Victoria Kiwanians were told at their Empress Hotel luncheon meeting yesterday by John Gough, municipal inspector of schools.

The company was the Hudson's Bay Company, which pushed early settlement and held the Coast for the Union Jack, but kept tight monopoly control of trade and the lives of colonists.

Mr. Gough gave a thumbnail sketch of Victoria's history from the visits of the Spaniards in 1774 to the present day.

When Wolfe took Quebec, there wasn't a single white man on the Pacific Coast. About the time Napoleon was sweeping through Europe, explorers were travelling to the Pacific by land for the first time and men of Spain, Britain, Russia and the United States were competing for colonial beach-heads here.

James Douglas of the Hudson's Bay Company chose Victoria as the site of the company's Western headquarters after the company had been squeezed out of Fort Vancouver at the mouth of the Columbia.

TRADE MONOPOLY

The Imperial Government granted the company a monopoly of Vancouver Island trade on condition the company colonize the island. Britain declared the island a Crown colony, and sent Richard Bligh as governor, 100 years ago this year.

Bligh arrived aboard H.M.S. Driver, commanded by a Captain Johnson, after whom Johnson Street was named. He found himself unwelcome. The company wanted Douglas as governor, and resented Bligh. There was no house for the governor. Bligh refused the makeshift quarters that were offered—a bunk inside the fort—and chose to stay aboard the warship for some time, visiting trading posts up and down the coast.

NO SALARY

There was no salary, and no one to govern, because the independent settlers could be counted on one hand. The company had promised Bligh 1,000 acres, but Douglas insisted the land had to be kept as a public reserve. There was no force to back Bligh's commands. The Colonial Office disregarded his suggestions. A strong recommendation that a garrison be set up at Esquimalt was brushed off.

Goods sold by the company to its own officers were marked up a mere 33 per cent. Lower-grade company servants had to pay a markup of 150 per cent. "Outsiders," such as settlers and Bligh himself, had to pay 300 per cent.

Nine months after he came, Bligh asked permission to resign. So slow were communications that ten more months passed before he learned that his resignation had been accepted.

Before he left, he carried out the wishes of a handful of independent settlers and set up the first legislative assembly.

Victoria has been "three times a capital," Mr. Gough pointed out. It was the capital of the Vancouver Island colony, then of the amalgamated island and mainland colonies, then of the province after Confederation.

CALLED TOO BIG

The first "bird-cage" legislative buildings, one of which still stands, were built by Douglas over protests by his assembly about the $100,000 cost and the "remote" site. History proved Douglas right, dictatorial though he was, Mr. Gough said. The Hudson's Bay Company paid the bill.

Today's Legislative Buildings, opened in 1898 with a ceremonial golden key, were condemned by a Cabinet Minister of the day as being bigger buildings than the colony would need for 500 years. They cost $981,000. Since then, government staffs have overflowed into offices elsewhere.

Criticizes Absence Of Pictures

Canadian tastes in home furnishings came in for criticism by Danish-born city art dealer B. R. Fibiger in a talk last night marking the opening of an exhibition of Scandinavian art at the Arts Centre Gallery, 823 Broughton Street.

"When I go into some Canadian homes, I feel I am in the Wild West," Mr. Fibiger remarked. "There's the necessary furniture and a mirror on the wall instead of a painting."

"They seem to like looking at themselves instead of pictures."

Periods and influences apparent in the work of Scandinavian artists were similar to those in other countries, Mr. Fibiger said at the conclusion of a summary of the characteristics of Northern arts and crafts.

Included in the display are a number of dry-points by Swedish artist Malte Sterner, now residing in Victoria.

COLLECTOR'S ITEMS

Collector's items on display include a sample of early 19th century Swedish peasant embroidery; a gilded copper cross, studded with semi-precious stones, belonging to the altar in an old Danish country church and dated 1225 A.D.; and samples of silver work of various periods. Also on display are paintings loaned by Mrs. A. J. Tullis, Mrs. N. McClung, Mrs. J. Groeck, Mr. Fibiger and A. Gilstein.

Robbery Case To Proceed Next Week

George F. Gregory has been named Crown prosecutor for the Provincial Police court preliminary hearing of an armed robbery charge against Stewart Robertson, John Edwin Hingley and Wilfred Hutchinson.

James J. Proudfoot will defend Hingley and Hutchinson, and Arthur P. Dawe will represent Robertson. The men are charged with the robbery last month of Ralph Callidine, owner of the Goldstream Inn.

In court yesterday afternoon, Magistrate A. I. Thomas remanded the trio to next week when Mr. Gregory said he expected the Crown will be ready to proceed with the hearing.

An application for bail for Robertson by Mr. Dawe will be considered by Magistrate Thomas. There was no request for bail by Hingley and Hutchinson. Mr. Gregory said his instructions were not to oppose bail unless it was less than $5,000.

Late yesterday the magistrate had made no decision on bail.

Medal Honors City Veteran

Richard Pette, M.B.E., of 2509 Government Street, former W.O.I. of the Corps of Military Staff Clerks, R.C.A., has been awarded the Meritorious Service Medal for long and faithful service.

Sergeant-Major Pette was retired on pension in February, 1946, after serving for more than 30 years.

He first enlisted in the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles, C.E.F., and returned to Canada in 1916 where he was discharged as medically unfit as a result of being wounded in France. He re-enlisted in the C.M.S.C. in 1917 and remained with the corps until retirement.

His other awards include: The Canadian Medal for Long Service and Good Conduct (Military), the 1914-15 Star, British War Medal, Victory Medal, C.V.M. and War Medal 1939-45.

School Opening in September For Two-to-Five-Year-Olds

Plans were made at a recent meeting of the newly formed Co-operative Nursery School Organization to operate a school for children aged from two to five years at 2164 Oak Bay Avenue.

The organization has leased property and equipment for one year. Opening date is expected to be September 5. A trained supervisor from Toronto will head the school, assisted by three local teachers experienced in child care.

Before a child can be placed in the new school the parent must belong to the nursery school organization. Fees are expected to be $15 per month with the father of the child giving part of his time each month to assist in maintenance work.

School hours will be from 9 a.m. to noon. Transportation to and from the school will be the responsibility of the parents.

Mrs. P. R. Hinton, spokesman for the school, said yesterday the nursery would also be used as a training centre for parents in child management.

"Twice a month parents will be expected to attend discussion groups on child management and care," she said.

The Nursery School Association of Victoria has donated $50 to the organization to help get the school started.

Parents interested in joining the organization are requested to telephone William Hooton at G 3787 or Mrs. H. B. McClung at E 8296.

PAINTFULLY BURNED

G. J. Scott, 35, formerly of Langford, was painfully burned about noon yesterday in the second accident in two days on the city's new pipeline.

Scott, who recently moved to Victoria, is in St. Joseph's Hospital suffering from burns to his right arm and left leg.

It is believed Scott was burned when a tarpaulin line burst, spraying him with gasoline which ignited immediately. He was brought to Victoria from Langford by the Victoria Ambulance Service Ltd.

Cranmore Road residents are protesting against the use of Oak Bay High School grounds by adults, not children, it was reported yesterday.

"They recently petitioned the municipal council asking that the use of the grounds as a public ball park be discontinued. Council felt the petitioners' statements about the noise and nuisance were exaggerated."

A spokesman yesterday stressed that the petitioners' complaints were directed toward adults, not youngsters, as the council appeared to assume.

CHOOSES SPEEDY TRIAL

J. Edward Minnie chooses speedy trial when he appeared in County Court yesterday on two theft charges. He will be tried before Judge H. H. Shandley on Tuesday.

Minnie is charged with stealing 18 wrenches, valued at $47 from John Handley at Langford, April 18, and with stealing a brass shaft, a boat propeller and a pump from W. L. Watson on the Malahat, April 23.

J. A. Byers is defending him. W. B. Colvin is Crown Counsel.

All B.C. Fires Under Control

Not a single forest fire broke out over the whole of British Columbia yesterday, the British Columbia Forest Service reported.

Heavy showers over most of the Interior brought a great improvement in the general situation, officials said.

Every fire in the province was reported under control, including the big blaze at Nimpkish, at the north end of Vancouver Island, where 150 men are still fire-fighting.

Conditions in the woods generally were reported exceptionally good for this time of year.

Russia's Reply Overlooks a Great Deal

RUSSIA'S reply, that the Security Council's decision to place all United Nations forces under American leadership was unlawful and represented direct support of armed aggression against the Korean people, was only what was to be expected under the circumstances. It overlooks a great deal. It does not explain the presence now of eleven-inch armored tanks with the North Korean invading army, nor Yak jet planes in the air over the lines. Nor does it remove the fact that the border between Korea's North and South was crossed by Northern forces in full battle array, and the fighting is on Southern soil. These were not peaceful evidences or acts.

If the Security Council's decision to apply sanctions in the first place lacked unanimity it was because Russia abstained from that discussion, used her voice in the United Nations councils in an effort to block action, and to hold off reprisals while the North Korean invaders drove ahead. All of that is so well documented that history is sure to recount the facts, and not the Kremlin's very obvious fiction. The real issue, of course, is not in Korea at all. It is in a world grown tired of ceaseless Communist aggression and Russian imperialism of an order surpassing that of Ivan the Terrible, of excuses that have grown as threadbare as any Hitler ever made in his palmist days.

Russia cannot have it both ways. Either she will abide by the spirit of the United Nations Charter and help defend it against all comers, or else by her actions she will prove that she signed that document with her tongue in her cheek. It is rather late in the affairs of men for the kind of double talk which came from Moscow yesterday. A United Nations — not American only — force is taking the field in Korea, and in defence of human rights. Russia can help to stop the fighting if she will.

Let the People Know, Says the General

MAJOR-GENERAL Worthington, who has been over in England taking a five-week course on civil defence, is reported to be coming home "busting" with ideas he hopes to introduce to Canada. The general may be disappointed; especially after giving voice to a home truth his governmental chief, Defence Minister Claxton, is apt not to like. It was that governments should be a little more frank and let the people know "what the score is" on home defence.

It was not so long ago that Mr. Claxton apparently did not like something the general produced, even though he appointed him to do precisely what he did. General Worthington had been assigned, and with no small fanfare of trumpets, to draw up a blueprint for the civilian defence of the whole of Canada. The former armored division commander is nothing if not a man of action, and in no time at all he laid a plan on the minister's desk.

It was a comprehensive plan, embracing the use of continuing agencies such as the Red Cross, St. John Ambulance, hospitals, etc., all tied in with A.R.P. precautions based on wartime experience. But Mr. Claxton demurred. Obviously it was one thing for the Government to announce the drafting of a home defence scheme but quite another thing when it came to putting such a scheme into force. The Defence Minister thought civilian defence measures premature; two years hence would be time enough. So the general's plan was shelved. That was so recently as last April.

Mr. Claxton had no control over subsequent international events, but they nevertheless set his opinion on home defence at naught. While there is no need for undue alarm over the Korean situation, it does point up the need for some sort of attention being paid to civilian defence—now. Even if only out of curiosity the public would appreciate being told "what the score is." Or is this too much to ask of a Defence Minister?

Spread of Poultry Disease Might Have Been Curbed

TO talk now of closing British Columbia border points to the movement of poultry as a means of preventing the further spread of Newcastle disease smacks of locking the stable door after the horse has gone. If measures had been taken months ago to contain the disease within the areas of its first appearance, perhaps Vancouver Island would still have the immunity from Newcastle disease that it enjoyed in past outbreaks. Instead, valuable flocks at many places on the island, including 2,700 turkeys at Goldstream a few days ago, have had to be destroyed. It has been estimated that to date more than 6,200 birds on Vancouver Island have had to be killed.

Believed to have started from contaminated imports from Washington, the first outbreaks of Newcastle disease in British Columbia this year occurred in the Fraser Valley, and ran like wildfire from flock to flock. At that time a few poultrymen on Vancouver Island urged that a ban be placed on the movement to the island of any birds, containers or other material that might carry the disease. They were opposed, largely on the score of inconvenience; while Dominion officials maintained that the disease could still be carried by wild birds. The proposal of a ban was turned down; and shortly afterwards the first cases of Newcastle disease were reported from Island farms.

Possibly the prohibition of imports might not have been successful, but on the other hand it might, and in the circumstances such a move was worth trying. This year's outbreak in British Columbia is too serious for any controls, however doubtful in effect, to be ignored. So far it has cost the Canadian taxpayer $500,000 in compensation to poultry farmers for flocks destroyed, on top of which the public has to pay higher prices for eggs and table fowls.

TAX ON RESALES

Sir, Recently I had a difference of opinion with the officials of the 3 per cent tax. I challenged the legality of collecting tax on a used article each time it was sold. Regardless of how cleverly this act is worded to gloss over this point, it is still a direct tax upon a tax.

I dared these officials to take this matter to court to test the validity of this point.

This they flatly refused to do. One can only interpret this attitude one way. That it is illegal; that they know it; therefore they do not want the publicity on this point.

DEFENCE OF VICTORIA

Sir, A recent editorial made reference to the number of anti-aircraft guns in this area, suggesting to the reader that they were too few in number to cope with an attack from the air. While the number implied was an understatement, whether or not the equipment actually available is adequate is a matter of opinion. If our defences are not strong enough, however, one of the main reasons is the lack of trained reserves.

Canada's defence against aggression is based almost entirely upon a citizens' defence force known as Navy, Army and Air Force reserve units.

In true democratic fashion, Mr. Average Citizen, if he thinks about the matter at all, appears to feel that this citizens' defence force is someone else's problem, not his—that there is a reserve force, and that everything is reasonably secure.

Actually, there is a reserve force, but not enough belongs to it to make it effective.

It requires months, for example, to train men to operate the technical instruments without which the guns are of little value. It takes time to train men to command guns, to operate communications, and to have such men in an organization where they are available on short warning.

Men buy fire insurance because of the remote possibility that fire may cause them loss. While an attack from the air may be equally remote—and how remote it is the reader must judge for himself—bombs directed at military targets will not all fall where they have been aimed, and some homes and businesses are bound to be destroyed if such bombing ever takes place.

There are two ways to pay the premium for bomb insurance—higher taxes and probably doing away with the plans being studied for improving old-age security, or all able-bodied men from 18 to 50 voluntarily taking their place in the reserve forces of Canada. One evening a week, and the occasional Sunday, is a light premium for security.

This, I believe, places the responsibility for defence where it belongs—right squarely in front of the citizens of South Vancouver Island.

If, for example, men join this anti-aircraft regiment or send their sons to join it, then the problem only becomes one of training, and we are prepared for it. Such training takes place on Wednesday or Friday nights at Bay St. Armoury, and for residents of North Saanich at Sidney, on Thursday nights.

And the time to join is now—not next week!

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes—and ships—and sailing
was—of cabbages and kings!"
By TOM TAYLOR

ONE of the North Korean hierarchy said after the United States jumped into the fray that America had been plotting the seizure of Korea ever since 1905, concerning which allegation one can only conclude that if this be so the Yankees are the slowest imperialists known to history. Extending the thought further, the early setbacks they have experienced offer the surest sort of denial of aggressive intent on their part. The comparative strengths of the rival forces in Korea speak eloquently of who was doing the plotting.

It would be against a law of nature, seemingly, for the Western world to be ready for any fracas, so that the success of the Communist armies at the outset comes as no surprise. Once again a small inadequately equipped force is expected to sacrifice itself in holding the breach while the West gathers its latest strength. History repeats itself but its lessons are never learned.

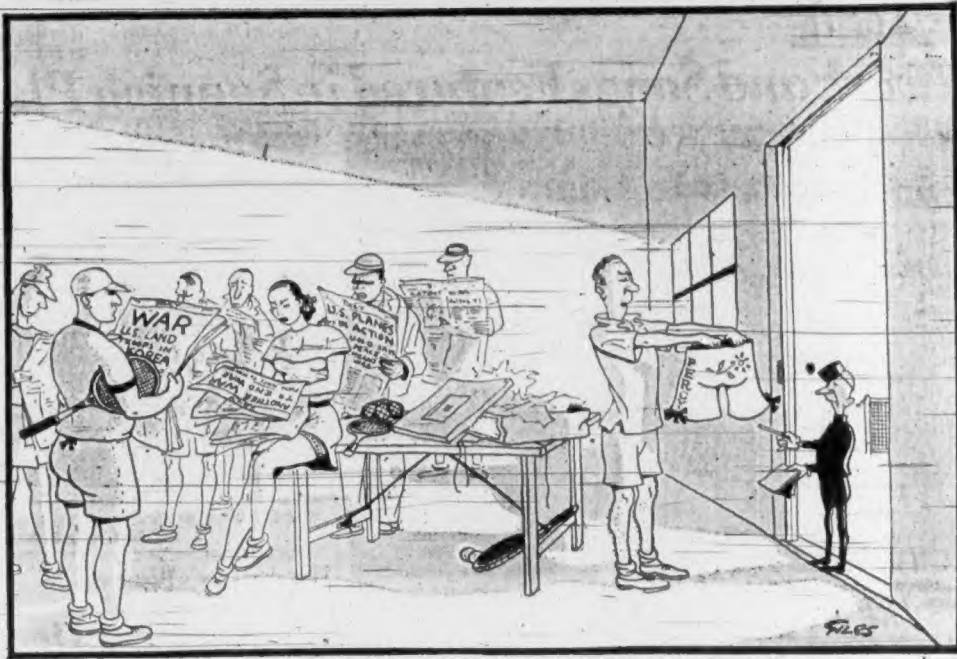

How far the Korean conflict may spread the man in the street does not know; the chances are no one else knows either. The more difficult the task of liberation, however, and the more deeply United States forces are committed, the more will American determination harden. One can scarcely envisage General MacArthur pushing the North Koreans back to their 38th Parallel starting point and then packing up quietly and going home.

MacArthur's appointment as United Nations supreme commander directs attention to the man upon whom the success of Western arms will depend. MacArthur is so colorful a character—and in the Far East almost a demigod—it is scarcely appreciated that by ordinary standards he is an old man. He is 70 years of age. He is by no means an ordinary man, but even so he must be about the oldest general ever to direct a campaign.

MacArthur, of course, was the man on the spot and he must reckon that destiny cast his star in the Far East. In point of fact he probably knows more about the Far East than he does now of his own country, for he hasn't set foot in the U.S.A. for the past fifteen years. He may reflect ruefully that his present role is strangely similar to what it was in Bataan, although this time he won't have to escape in a motor torpedo boat. He has one consolation, however—unlike his British compeer the aura of initial defeat in the World War was not allowed to deprive him of revenge. Unless a catch-up with him he is likely to see the Korean war through to the end also.

MacArthur belies his years. I saw a newsreel of him the other day, taken a week or so ago and showing him stepping out of his Tokyo headquarters. He walked like a man of fifty and looked much trimmer—particularly in the waistline—than most generals of today. He had a poise that exuded supreme confidence. A colleague who served for a while with the Americans in the South Pacific tells me the G.I.'s used to call it a pose, and undoubtedly MacArthur is like Montgomery in his showmanship. The glided cap, the black glasses, the cornucopia pipe, the grandiloquence—all these add to his stature; but if the records of MacArthur and Montgomery are put together the conclusion must be drawn that it's a pity all our generals are not touched with a sense of drama. MacArthur, in any case, has had the most brilliant career of any modern American soldier.

Recalling the age we live in, however, with its accent on youth, there is pliancy in the fact that the first United Nations supreme commander should also be the oldest general available for the job, even if the choice was slightly automatic.

"Bother! Here's me with my nice new embroidered shorts and Wimbledon not even on the front page."

Communist-Inspired "Peace" Fraud

By BOB CONSIDINE
International News Service

NEW YORK.—You've been hearing, and are going to hear a lot more from now on, about the so-called Stockholm Peace Appeal. It is gathering countless hundreds of thousands of adherents, whose petitions soon will be set before United Nations by the truckloads.

It is an ingenious, Communist-inspired fraud. Eastern Europeans who are endorsing it in droves apparently are doing so at the risk of losing their food cards or being declared enemies of the state. Western adherents have fallen for a complete ruse. New Yorkers are the latest dupes.

The peace proposal was born of a resolution passed last March 12 in Stockholm at the World Congress of Partisans for Peace. It was a meeting similar to that Red-front "peace" thing we had at the Waldorf last year. The resolution reads:

"We demand the unconditional prohibition of the atomic weapon as an instrument of aggression and mass extermination of people, and the establishment of strict international control over the fulfillment of this decision. We will regard as a war criminal the Government which first uses the atomic weapon against any country. We call upon all people of good will over the world to sign this appeal."

United States Atomic Energy Commission member Gordon Dean ably nailed this trickery during a recent speech before the American Medical Association at San Francisco. He called it an "appeal to the galleries," an effort by the Kremlin to undermine world confidence in the 46-nation U.N. plan for the control of A-weapons, which Russia has vetoed because it refuses to open its atomic plants to impartial inspection.

"It is important to analyze what the resolution does not say," Dean warned. "It does not brand as a war criminal that nation which first commits an act of aggression. Rather it states that that nation which first uses the A-bomb is to be branded as a war criminal.

"Ten million Russians equipped with tanks, artillery, bombs and bombers might be over-running the world, but if one of the Western powers should attempt to break the invasion and retaliate with the A-bomb, the nation so retaliating—not the original aggressor—becomes the war criminal.

"Was the Stockholm resolution purposely so framed? I leave it to you. For the past three months close to fifty per cent of all commentaries on the Russian radio which have been beamed to foreign ears have dealt with this signature campaign. The Moscow press and the Communist press of all foreign countries carry extensive daily reports of the progress of the campaign.

"Moscow has called for Communists to demand that persons who refuse to sign the petition make a public statement of why they oppose the abolition of atomic weapons. A person who does not sign, they assert, thereby proves himself to be an enemy of peace. This perhaps explains why so many signatures are coming from Eastern Europe. No signatures; no bread!"

Dean gives the French National Assembly the credit for unveiling the deception of the Stockholm Peace Appeal. It passed a motion calling for French representatives on the Security Council to plug for codification and redeclaration of existing prohibitions on poisonous gas, bacteriological weapons and other mass means of destruction, and asking also that it be made an international crime for a country to initiate war.

The Communists in the French Assembly voted no, to a man. Which caused Commissioner Dean to remark in San Francisco, "... thereby pointing out the complete and utter hypocrisy of the Stockholm Peace Appeal."

He warned New Yorkers, first Americans to be exposed to the phony business, to avoid efforts to make them sign the appeals—which have been placed in certain shops and along sidewalks. Generally, the only information offered to a prospective signer is a slogan reading, "Sign here for peace." Apparently very many New Yorkers have innocently affixed their signatures and they eventually, Dean said, "... will suddenly awaken to the realization that by the single act of signing a sheet of paper labeled 'Peace' they became pawns of the Russians in the game of talking peace as a means of waging war."

Observation
Car by G.N.

SEVERAL local mechanics still remember the woman who bought a new automobile, and then complained long and loud about it consuming a gallon of gasoline every six or seven miles. The first-time she returned to the garage where she had purchased the machine, two master mechanics checked the ignition system and carburetor, looked for leaks in the gasoline tank and fuel line, and gave it a thorough road test. They estimated it should run between 18 and 20 miles on a gallon of gasoline. A few days later the woman came back to the garage with the same complaint about no mileage. One of the mechanics noticed the manual choke pulled out and the woman's purse hanging on it. "Do you always drive with the choke out?" he asked. "Do you mean that little knob on the dash? I pull it out to hang my purse on. Does it make any difference?" the woman asked. "Then there was the Brentwood resident who read an advertisement for a Model 'T' automobile in an English magazine, and thought that it would naturally be a superior product with different lines just because British goods at that time had a name for real quality. He ordered one of the machines from England, and paid a large sum for freight and duty. He had not driven the automobile more than a few hours before he realized it was exactly the same as those produced in Canada and the United States. A garage operator at Sidney also told him it had been assembled in England from parts manufactured in the United States. ... A third case concerns an innocent motorist whose new automobile developed several ominous knocks before he had operated it a year. He stormed into the local garage where he had laid down cold cash in the days when $1 represented 100 cents, and gave the sales manager a piece of his mind. A mechanic soon discovered the machine was practically out of oil. "Confound it! None of you blighters told me about having to put oil in," the motorist roared.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

For the boy of eight, away for the summer at camp, one of the early ball-point pens that didn't write will probably suffice.

How comforting—if one could feel that world diplomacy, like the death in the comic, could always extricate itself from the peril which only a chump would fall into.

According to a Chicago doctor "some girls can't stand kissing." And we thought that swooning business was out of date.

Life has a passion for returning to the same point.

Two newspapermen are wondering if Mrs. Truman picks the President's ties for him. During Mr. Truman's recent visit to St. Louis, the reporters were trying to make out the pattern on the President's four-in-hand after he came down from the speaker's stand.

"What wrong, boys?" the President asked.

They told him. Mr. Truman looked down at the design as if seeing the tie for the first time, and said: "I don't know what it is—swans or something, I guess."

Two Plans to Rebuild Bombed London May Take 15 Years to Complete

By ERNEST AGNEW

LONDON, July 11 (AP).—Just ten years ago the air raid sirens were wailing over Britain.

The first of 50,000 bombs, not counting incendiaries, which German bombers dumped on London in 13 months fell on the clear moonlit night of July 11, 1940. It hit an open space, caused no damage, but that was only the beginning.

The war lasted five years and eight months. For 47 of those 68 months London was more or less under attack from the air.

From the dramatic moment at 11:30 a.m. Sunday, September 3, 1939, when the first false alarm sent Londoners scurrying to air raid shelters, until March 28, 1945—when the sirens sounded for the last time—there were 1,227 air raid alerts in Central London. When the war ended, 145,000 houses in Metropolitan London alone had been demolished or made uninhabitable.

THOUSANDS REBUILT

Thousands of houses have been rebuilt, but completion of an ambitious plan for full reconstruction of the capital will not come for at least 15 years, perhaps more. The country can't afford it.

Serious discussions about the rebuilding of the city started in 1942. By 1943, two plans had been drawn up by Professor Patrick Abercrombie, 65-year-old professor of town and country planning at the University of London.

They covered:

1. Rebuilding of Greater London—the whole mass of built-up streets, including the outer suburbs.

2. Metropolitan London, or the administrative County of London, the inner area.

3. The City proper, the square mile that encloses the Bank of England, the financial district and the Lord Mayor's headquarters.

EIGHT NEW TOWNS

Broadly, Abercrombie's plan for Greater London calls for construction of eight satellite towns on the outskirts and the creation of a "green belt" for open space and recreation.

For the County of London his plan calls for a relocation of streets and arterial highways to relieve growing traffic congestion, elimination of sub-standard housing, more parks and the prevention of the intermingling of industry and housing.

Both plans are under way now. The time of their completion is highly problematical.

By mid-1952 the council says it either will have rebuilt, repaired or completely replaced, all the 145,000 houses destroyed or damaged in the six metropolitan boroughs of Westminster, Holborn, Stepney, Poplar, Lewisham and Wandsworth. But docks still line the Thames and no tunnels have been dug under it.

And few of London's many squares have been redesigned in accordance with the plan.

Churchmen Air Report On Freedom

TORONTO, July 11 (AP).—Leaders of 160,000 Protestant and Orthodox Christians today discussed a report charging violation of religious freedom in predominantly Roman Catholic and Moslem countries.

The central committee of the World Council of Churches, representing 44 countries, referred the report to a subcommittee for further discussion before the central committee's meeting ends Saturday.

The World Council has no Roman Catholic or Moslem representation.

The report, submitted by the Commission of the Churches on International Affairs after a year's study, referred specifically to religious conditions in Spain, Italy, El Salvador, the Belgian Congo, Argentina, Colombia, Indonesia, and eight countries in the Near and Middle East.

COUNCIL AGENCY

The commission is an agency of the World Council and of the International Missionary Council.

The report proposed:

1. Opposition to all practices whereby Governments, churches or other agencies curb religious freedom.

2. Church representations to Governments or to the United Nations and to religious authorities in countries where infringement of religious freedom is alleged.

3. A national and international program for "affirmative, preventive and remedial measures for promoting the observance of religious freedom for all men."

Dr. O. Frederick Nolde of the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, presented the report, and urged that each be put in the hands of a subcommittee to determine whether enough money is available.

Mobilization Agencies Still Ready in Canada

OTTAWA, July 11 (AP).—Should Canada become plunged into a full-scale war over Korea, mobilization of her manpower would be fast and smooth compared with that of the World War.

Five years after that war's end, much of the framework of the machinery used for directing manpower into military and civilian channels is still in existence. Many of the key men who directed the job are still in Government service.

In the last war, everything had to be built up from scratch. But by the end of hostilities Canada had one of the best manpower mobilization organizations among the Allies.

KEY SERVICE

Key agency in the last war was the National Selective Service, which after the opening stages of the war centralized manpower controls under the Department of Labor.

Much of the organization of this agency is still in existence in the form of the National Employment Service, which has a network of 300 regional offices across the country. The wartime director of N.E.S., Arthur MacNamara, now is deputy minister of labor.

National Employment Service developed from the Selective Service organization, and still uses many of the facilities and personnel of the wartime body. Officials say the transition back to a wartime basis could be made easily.

Facilities for the placement of technical workers in war industries are in being, while training programs are being operated by the provinces and could be switched back to Federal control in the event of emergency.

GREATER SCALE

Labor-management production committees, a wartime development, are in operation on a scale greater than the wartime basis.

In readiness also is the machinery for the Dominion taking over control of industrial relations in all industries, as was done during the war and the early postwar years.

Jurisdiction in most of the industries was moved back to the provinces in 1948, with the Federal Government retaining authority in railroads, communications and certain other inter-provincial undertakings. This is another field in which control could be quickly returned to the Central Government.

Half-Dozen American Airmen Run Far-End of Korea Airlift

AN AMERICAN AIR BASE IN KOREA, July 12 (Wednesday) (INS).—A mere half a dozen American airmen—three officers and three enlisted men—are running the receiving end of the Korea airlift which cannot match the Berlin airlift for size but outstrips it by far in thrills and ingenuity.

These Americans at a frontline air base—aided only by Korean laborers in rickety trucks—have unloaded vital war supplies and had a cargo plane ready for take-off ten minutes after landing to clear the strip for the next load of men and materials.

CRAWFORD'S COMMANDOS

The Americans call themselves "Crawford's Air Commandos" after Col. Troy W. Crawford who is running the show from Japan.

The cargo planes take aboard war casualties after unloading food and ammunition.

The airfield is dirt and becomes a mudhole in rain and a dust bowl in sunny weather. The entire operation is directed from two tents where the personnel take refuge from the propeller wash of planes.

Korean air stewards toss the unloaded cargo into trucks at the end of the airstrip and then the planes shift just a few feet for the take-off. Between airlift flights, light observation planes flutter in and out on reconnaissance jobs over the front.

NURSES STAND BY

Each morning the first plane from Japan brings a group of nurses who stand by in a hot tent awaiting casualties and fly back with them.

On each clear day the pilots and ground crew strive to improve their record and some transports even make three round trips in a single day.

Bad weather and darkness halt the airlift since the strip has no navigational aids other than inadequate flares.

FREEHOLD, N.J., July 11 (AP).—Theodore Smith, 35, and unemployed, began a six-month jail sentence today on a disorderly person charge. His wife testified he beat her because she wouldn't pay him baby-sitting fees while she went out to work.

HULL, Que., July 11 (AP).—At $127 a kiss, romance came high for Laurier Blais, 26, of nearby Galteneau Mills.

Judge Victor Chabot today fined him $27 and ordered him to post a peace bond of $100 for kissing his former girl friend, Dolores Lalonde, 20, against her will on the street.

As he kissed her, the charge said, Blais held the girl by the throat.

TORONTO, July 11 (AP).—William Makarenko, 40, said in court today he doesn't mind a "slight dash of lies" in the face—when it's thrown by his wife.

"I forgive her," he said, offering to pay her $50 fine for assault.

U.S. Composer, De Sylva, Dies In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, July 11 (INS).—B. G. "Buddy" De Sylva, former head of Paramount Pictures and one of America's most prolific composers with some 500 popular songs to his credit, died today of a heart ailment. He was 54.

De Sylva, whose income from royalties from his songs was estimated at $50,000 per week several years ago, had been suffering from a heart condition since 1945.

Some of his hits included "Callin' Home," "A Cottage Small by a Waterfall," "Sunnyside Up," and the perennial favorite, "Bonny Boy."

De Sylva's first composition was "Avalon." He received a $15,000 cheque for the number in a contest for a song to popularize Santa Catalina Island, resort island off the Southern California coast.

De Sylva was a freshman at the University of Southern California at the time. He worked his way through college by playing at country clubs. Al Jolson heard him sing one of his original compositions one night and hustled him off to New York for fame and fortune in Tin Pan Alley.

The composer was born in New York City in 1896. He wrote scores and songs for Ziegfeld Follies and George White's Scandals. His musical productions included such successes as "Three Cheers" and "Hold Everything."

Russia May Quit U.N. After Vicious Attacks

Interpreting the News

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

With United Nations prestige in Russia reported dropping fast as a result of the Kremlin's vicious attacks on the Security Council and Secretary-General Trygve Lie in connection with Korea, speculation over whether the Soviets will ever return to the council halls has been heightened.

The Security Council now is being described in Russian propaganda as "half wrecked," and merely a tool of the United States State Department. The countries which joined the United States in calling for action against Korean Communists are called "fools" and "a coalition of imperialists and beasts of prey."

Lie—the only man Russia would consider for secretary-general, who recently received a friendly reception at the Kremlin and who has suffered much criticism from certain quarters which considered him "Russia's man"—now has been vilified in the Soviet press in words which approach the extremes in publishable terms.

GAME MAY BE UP

There are various angles to support speculation that Russia, never intending real co-operation in the world family, may consider that the game, the way she has been playing it at Lake Success, is up.

Russia still likes to use the United Nations for propaganda.

The delegation still is in New York, of course, but with only rare official contacts at Lake Success.

Many observers have felt all the time that Russia's agitation over admission of Communist China and the subsequent boycott were a ruse.

The United States announcement that it will defend Formosa changes the relationship between the United States and Communist China from one of mutual antipathy to one approximating an armed truce. And no one knows when that may be broken by Communist action in Formosa, Korea or Indo-China.

SEEMS UNLIKELY

As long as the present situation exists, admission of Peiping representatives to the halls of Lake Success seems extremely unlikely if not impossible.

Russia, then, can be expected to boycott this Autumn's General Assembly. She might leave for good. Of course it would not be beyond Russia, if it served her purpose, to just drop the Chinese Communism admission row and come back as though nothing had happened.

Without the present Russia, the United Nations might just be able to do a large part of the job for which it was intended, until the day when it can be rounded into a real world co-operative with the admission of a new Russia.

Average Pay At New High

OTTAWA, July 11 (AP).—The steady rise in average employee wages in major non-farm industries continued through April, hitting another new peak at May 1.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today the average weekly earnings in the major non-agricultural industries at May 1 was $44.90, compared with $44.88 at April 1 and $43.19 at May 1 of last year.

Individual earnings increased in Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia,

Ontario and British Columbia but were lower in the other provinces.

how to get a
NIAGARA LOAN
when you need it

Just drop-in-to-see-your friendly Niagara Loan adviser. You'll enjoy your privacy-with him. He'll make it easy for you to get the Niagara Loan best suited to your needs.

Here are answers to some questions which may be puzzling you.

Who can get a Niagara Loan? Anyone with a reputation for honesty and the ability to repay.

Who do I see for loan advice? A Niagara Loan man at the Niagara Finance office.

How much can be borrowed from Niagara? Niagara Loans may be obtained in amounts ranging from $50 to $1,000—sometimes more.

How quickly can I get money? Sometimes in 20 minutes, but within twenty-four hours on most loans.

How long will I have to repay? There are many Niagara Loan repayment plans. On loans of over $500 you may take up to 24 months. An irregular repayment schedule is available to farmers, school teachers, etc.

Does it cost much to "buy" a loan? No. Niagara rates are reasonable. Look at the chart and remember that on most loans life insurance is included at no extra cost.

Does a friend have to "back" my loan? No. Niagara Loans may be secured without endorsers.

How many ways of increasing my loan? You can use any of these four Niagara Loan plans:
1. On husband-and-wife signatures.
2. On cars, trucks, etc., only owner's signature.
3. On business equipment.
4. On farm stock and equipment.

Can I have a private interview with the Niagara Loan Specialist? Yes, your interview at Niagara will be private, courteous and friendly.

Why do people borrow money? A few of the reasons are to consolidate a group of small debts, to meet special emergencies, for car and truck repairs, to repair or modernize their homes, to enlarge their business, for seed, stock, fertilizer for farms, and to take advantage of low prices when cash is paid.

Do many people borrow money? Yes, one family out of every seven borrows money every year.

Crews Will Trek Into Malaya To Shoot "They Kill to Live"

HEARD IN HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
HOLLYWOOD, July 11 (INS).—The most dangerous safari since the "Big Game" expedition is Richard K. Polmar's hunt to the wilds of the Malayan jungle for "They Kill to Live."

With stars Babu and Jean Willes, plus technicians and explorers, the Polmar troupe takes off from Hollywood, August 6. First stop is Singapore to establish headquarters. Then starts the trek into the Malaya wilds to film and trap black panthers, leopards, tigers, crocodiles and snakes.

The animals trapped will be turned over to leading zoos and circuses in this country—which is another way to make money.

Polmar has signed up for an Eagle-Lion release and P. Reeves Eason will direct.

DATE WITH HEPBURN
One of John Huston's first appointments when he gets back in town will be with Katharine Hepburn. Next year, John plans to direct and produce "The African Queen," and the only girl he can see in this movie is Katharine. By that time she'll be finished with her read tour of "As You Like It," and I'm betting she'll listen.

INSIDE STORY
The real inside story of Shirley Yamaguchi, the Betty Grable of Japan, who just left Hollywood, reminds me of the tale about the guinea pig. It isn't a pig, and it doesn't come from Guinea.

Yoshiko (her real name) was born in Manchuria, where her parents—both Japanese—worked for the railway that operates between China and Russia. My informant, well versed in Oriental affairs, tells me that Yoshiko was later adopted by General Lee, a Manchurian war lord, who took to flight during the Chinese civil war.

The beautiful Chinese-born Japanese girl went to Japan in 1936, where she renounced her Chinese name, Lee Ko Ran, in favor of her parents' name.

Uncle Wiggily Story

By Howard Garls

PLANNING THE TRICKS
Uncle Wiggily had made "Tiny Tigon," the baby of a father tiger and a mother lioness, very happy when he said he would teach "Tiny" some circus tricks. Because, more than anything else, "Tiny" wanted to be a circus performer.

"My mother and father are in a circus in Florida," "Tiny" told Uncle Wiggily. "And they let me come with Hippo's circus because Hippo liked me so much, and they were sure I could do circus tricks. But I don't seem to be able to do very much."

The two new friends were walking slowly toward the tent entrance, because the circus show was almost over, where suddenly, Tigon stubbed his paw on a tent stake. He fell down and bumped his nose.

"Excuse me, he said.

"Well, see that you learn circus

WEDNESDAY, JULY 12, 1950
Today's quotation: "I have never had a policy. I have simply tried to do what seemed best each day, as each day came."

—Abraham Lincoln

Wednesday for Everyone—Gain an early start, since the forenoon comprises the most stimulating portion of the day. Complete tasks, solve problems. Later, be active, consistent, shun haste; do not create ennui.

Look for your birthdate and birth-sign below:

March 21 to April 19 (Aries)—Make up your mind on pending issues. Be tactful; cement understanding with people.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus)—Realize the most from your finances and estate holdings. Don't allow entertainment to drain resources.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Revisions which are advantageous to you are possible in personal matters. Seek to overcome goals.

June 21 to July 22 (Cancer)—Gain the good will of others through consideration and a willingness to lend a hand. Recheck opinions formed.

July 23 to Aug. 22 (Leo)—Seek to establish funds connected with your work. Have no part of questionable activities.

Aug. 23 to Sept. 22 (Virgo)—Strive to realize objectives; fortify your positions. Avoid slipshod methods.

Sept. 23 to Oct. 22 (Libra)—Your considered judgment is accurate. Keep plans flexible for revisions will be necessary.

Oct. 23 to Nov. 22 (Scorpio)—Be co-operative but keep clear of those who would waste money. Keep expenditures on a "Dutch treat" basis.

Nov. 23 to Dec. 22 (Sagittarius)—Watch the methods used by those about you in making headway. Don't be guilty of faux pas.

Dec. 23 to Jan. 19 (Capricorn)—Those in the work scene can provide opportunities for gains. Keep busy; get things done.

Jan. 20 to Feb. 18 (Aquarius)—Forward pet projects confidently. Have fun but don't go over your head in spending.

Feb. 19 to March 20 (Pisces)—Better conditions around you; make the most of present set-ups. Let others know where you can be reached.

Planning Ahead—Good for sociability, entertaining, etc.: July 12, 13, 16, 17, 18, 22, 29, 30, 31.

CHAPTER XXXVI—Continued

"The trouble with you is, Murgatroyd, as I said just now, that you won't try. Now pay attention. This is what happened. Whoever it is that's got it in for Letty Blacklock was there in that room that evening. He (I say he because it's easier, but there's no reason why it should be a man more than a woman except, of course, that men are dirty dogs), well, he has previously oiled that second door that leads out of the drawing-room and which is supposed to be nailed up or something. Don't ask me when he did it, because that confuses things. Actually, by choosing my time, I could walk into any house in Chipping Cleghorn and do anything I liked there for half an hour or so with no one being the wiser. It's just a question of working out where the lady women are and when the occupiers are out and exactly where they've gone and how long they'll be. Just good stuff work."

"Now to continue. He's oiled that second door. It will open without a sound. Here's the set up: Lights go out, door A (the regular door) opens with a flourish. Business with torch and heldup lines. In the meantime, while we're all goggling, X (that's the best term to use) slips quietly out by door B into the back hall, comes up behind that Swiss fellow, takes a couple of shots at Letty Blacklock and then shoots the Swiss. Drops the revolver, where lazy thinkers like you will assume its evidence that the Swiss did the room again by the time that some one gets a lighter going. Got it?"

"Yes—yes, but who was it?"

"Well, if you don't know, Murgatroyd, nobody does!"

"Me?" Miss Murgatroyd fairly twittered in alarm. "But I don't know anything at all. I don't really, Hinch!"

"That stuff of yours you call a brain. To begin with, where was everybody when the lights went out?"

"I don't know."

"Yes, you do. You're maddening, Murgatroyd. You know where you were, don't you? You were behind the door."

"Yes—yes, I was. It knocked against my corn when it flew open."

"Come on now—you're behind the door. I'm standing against the mantelpiece with my tongue hanging out for a drink. Letty Blacklock is by the table near the archway, getting the cigarettes. Patrick Simmons has gone through the archway into the small room where Letty Blacklock has had the drinks put. Agreed?"

"Yes, yes, I remember all that."

"Good, now somebody else followed Patrick into that room or was just starting to follow him. One of the men. The annoying thing is that I can't remember whether it was Easterbrook or Edmund Swettenham. Do you remember?"

"No, I don't."

"You wouldn't! And there was someone else who went through the small room, Phillipa Haymes. She went over to the mantelpiece in the other room. I don't know what it was she wanted there, because at that moment the lights went out."

CHAPTER XXXVII

"Now, Murgatroyd, pay attention. Miss Hinchcliffe said sternly, "That's the position. In the far drawing-room are Patrick, Phillipa Haymes, and either Colonel Easterbrook or Edmund Swettenham—we don't know which. The most probable thing is that it was one of those three who did it. If anyone wanted to get out of that far door they'd naturally take care to put themselves in a convenient place when the lights went out. So, as I say, in all probability, it's one of those three. And in that case, Murgatroyd, there's not a thing you can do about it!"

"On the other hand," said Miss Hinchcliffe, "there's the possibility that it wasn't one of those three. And that's where you come in, Murgatroyd."

"But how should I know anything about it?"

"You should know it," said Miss Hinchcliffe. "There's a possibility that it wasn't one of those three. And that's where you come in, Murgatroyd."

"But how should I know anything about it?"

"You should know it," said Miss Hinchcliffe. "There's a possibility that it wasn't one of those three. And that's where you come in, Murgatroyd."

VACATION GUIDE

Mill Bay Ferry Circle Tour Link

Many Favor Noted Lake For Holiday

Lake Cowichan has always been a favorite holiday centre for many persons from all parts of the world.

The lake, more than 23 miles long and fairly wide, offers to the vacation-seekers all the pleasures they could possibly want.

It is not far from picturesque Maple Bay and Cowichan Bay, both famous holiday resorts, but those who go to the lake usually stay there for their full time.

The Dominion fish hatchery, located on a beautiful site at the head of the Cowichan River, attracts many visitors. This hatchery has been there for 22 years, and has been responsible for the stocking of many streams, lakes and rivers on Vancouver Island.

Scores of fishermen may be seen daily, preparing to take out boats to various parts of the Cowichan River or on the lake. Some go early in the morning, others go fishing in the cool of the evening.

MOUNTAIN CLIMBING

Many visitors enjoy climbing the numerous mountain trails that surround the lake. Trips to Ladysmith and other nearby towns are undertaken by the more ambitious visitors, while others may explore the area at the head of the lake and as far as Nanaimo Lakes.

Nearby Nitinat Lake assures the fisherman of good salmon fishing. The lake is salt water and is reputed to have salmon of greater-than-average size.

There are several ways of getting to Lake Cowichan.

Those traveling from Victoria may go by way of Brentwood and the Mill Bay Ferry, or beside Langford Lake, through the picturesque Goldstream area and over the Malahat Drive. Cobble Hill, Cowichan Bay and Duncan are points on the way to the lake from Victoria.

WARPED DOORS

VIENNA, July 11 (Reuters).—Many Viennese crawled out of windows on their way to work today.

Wooden doors, baked under dry in the recent record-breaking heat wave, were swollen, warped and jammed after a night of torrential rainstorms. The night-long cloud-bursts produced flooding in many parts of Austria.

Familiar sight to residents and visitors is the Brentwood-Mill Bay ferry, which serves both the scenery hunter and the man in a hurry. It cuts out miles for Up-Island travelers. For many tourists it is one link in a circle tour which leads over the scenic Malahat, Up-Island and back. Picture above shows the ferry, Mr. Brentwood, coasting into dock at the Brentwood side, within a handy distance of Butchart's Gardens. Wharf was recently rebuilt.

Bride Rose Drewry Wears Pale Blue Net and Lace

Against a background of pink peonies, and little larkspur in the Windermere Hotel, Rose Marie Drewry and Arthur Elbert Evans exchanged marriage vows. Rev. James Hood heard the nuptial promises of the daughter of Mrs. J. B. Drewry, 1540 Jubilee Avenue, and the son of Mr. A. W. Evans and the late Mrs. Evans of Duncan.

Layer upon layer of misty blue net formed the bride's wedding dress which featured a simple bodice of lace. With it she wore a shoulder-length veil of blue tulle held in place by a coronet of sweetheart roses, and she carried a shower bouquet of pink roses.

A full-skirted frock of pale yellow organza with bolero and matching gloves was worn by the matron of

Mr. and Mrs. Corbett Drive to California

Mr. and Mrs. H. Douglas Corbett are driving to California for their honeymoon following their wedding Friday evening at Metropolitan United Church.

Baskets of Regal lilies, gladioli and ferns formed the setting when Dr. A. E. Whitehouse read the nuptial service—uniting Jocelyn Violet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Rathbone, 1473 Fort Street, and the son of Mr. C. Corbett of Osoyoos, B.C., and the late Mrs. Corbett.

The pretty bride, given away by her father, wore white organza embroidered in yella-ray floral design, fashioned with low scalloped neck, cap sleeves and tiered skirt. Her veil of silk net edged with lace was held under a tiara of orange blossoms. She wore a jeweled pendant as her only ornament, long lace gloves and carried a bouquet of gardenias and red roses.

Mrs. J. Rathbone, matron of honor for her sister-in-law, was gowned in pale yellow angelkin with mauve floral headpiece and shoulder veil, mauve gloves, and carried a crescent bouquet of mauve sweet peas and lily. Miss Dorothy Fenell and Miss Yvonne Rathbone, sister of the bride, wore bridesmaids' gowns of pale blue and peach taffeta, respectively, the former having a bandeau of pink flowers and veiling, pink gloves and carried a bouquet to tone; Miss Rathbone wore blue lace gloves and blue flowers with veiling in her hair to match the blooms in her bouquet. Miss Marjorie Rathbone, young sister of the bride, as junior bridesmaid, was frocked in pale blue velvety embroidered organza, with pink lace gloves, blue and pink flower headpiece with ribbons, and crescent-shaped bouquet of pastel sweet peas and lily.

The bridegroom had his brother, Mr. Bill Corbett, as best man, and ushers were Mr. Roy English and Mr. Jim Rathbone, brother of the bride. Mr. E. Holloway played the organ, and while the register was being signed Mrs. Bert Noel sang "I'll Walk Beside You."

The reception was held at Newstead Hall, where the table, decorated with roses and sweet peas, was centred with the three-tiered wedding cake.

month and this is his first parish. Mr. and Mrs. Horsfield have a five-year-old son, Robert John.

Observe 50th Anniversary

A family luncheon was held Sunday at the Cherry Bank Hotel to celebrate the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Woollett of Mount Douglas Apartments.

They were married in St. Barnabas' Church on July 7, 1900, by Rev. E. G. Miller, the bride having traveled from her home in Guildford, England.

Mr. and Mrs. Woollett have lived most of their married life in Victoria. During the Great War they operated the Somass Hotel at Port Alberni and later the Cameron Lake Chalet. Mr. Woollett was well known to the traveling public, having been with the old Pacific Navigation Company, and later for many years chief steward on the Canadian Pacific B.C. Coast steamships plying the West Coast and Alaska route. His wife endeared herself to the traveling public as the charming hostess of the above two hostels. She has always been and still is very active in Anglican church work.

Mr. and Mrs. Woollett had two sons, Herbert, now deceased, for many years purser on the coast ships, and Archibald P. of Vancouver, also purser. They have four grandchildren; George and Laurie of Victoria, and Diana and Donna of Vancouver.

The luncheon was arranged by Mrs. Kenneth L. Toms, a niece from Port Alberni, and Mrs. Archie Woollett. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Archie Woollett, Mrs. H. G. Woollett, Mr. and Mrs. L. Holland, Mr. and Mrs. D. Knox, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Toms, Mr. Laurie Woollett and Masters Douglas and Brian Toms. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Woollett received congratulations and flowers from many friends at their Fort Street home.

St. Matthew's Garden Party

The annual garden party sponsored by St. Matthew's Guild was held Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Baylis, Langford. Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen, president, welcomed the guests.

In charge of needlework, home-cooking and ice cream stalls were Mrs. G. McGregor, Mrs. A. Baxter, Mrs. N. C. Stewart and Mrs. E. Jeffrey. Miss P. Taylor served afternoon tea assisted by the Misses Frances Jeffrey, Maureen Clarke, Marilyn Clarke, Ann Stewart, and Joan Stewart. In charge of tea arrangements were Mrs. E. A. Williamson, Mrs. W. T. Sim and Mrs. V. Franklin while Mrs. H. Hughes, Mrs. O. C. Moore, Mrs. W. L. Staley and Mrs. R. Freemantle presided at the urns.

Contests and games were conducted by Mrs. A. Horner, Mrs. I. Mutter, Mrs. E. Thow and Major A. E. Smart. Mr. D. B. F. Bullen sold tea tickets.

Scene of Garden Party This Afternoon

The beautiful grounds of "The Latch," the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Nicholson, All Bay Road, Sidney, will be the scene of the annual St. Andrew's Church Garden Party this afternoon. There will be various stalls, games and afternoon tea will be served.

Brides-Elect Honored at Parties

Miss May McAvoy, a July bride-elect, was complimented when Mrs. J. Lindal entertained at a miscellaneous shower at her home on Caladonia Avenue, recently. Corages of roses and carnations were received by the bride-to-be and her mother. Refreshments were served from a lace-covered table centred with a shower cake and decorated with gladioli. The guests were Mrs. E. McAvoy, Mrs. P. Barnes, Mrs. J. Kirk, Mrs. J. M. Fields, Mrs. C. English and Misses Tille McAvoy, Hazel Ray, Shirley Trull, Billie Bradley and Barbara Lindal.

Miss Ruth Mellings and Miss Hazel Ray were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss May McAvoy, at the home of Miss Mellings, 2137 Spring Street. Red carnations for the bride-elect, and white carnations in corsage for her mother were presented. A bowl of red roses decorated the supper table and a prettily iced shower cake was cut by the guest of honor. The guests were Mrs. E. McAvoy, Mrs. J. Lindal, Mrs. J. Ray, Mrs. J. Jones and Misses Shirley Trull, G. Chink, J. McDonald, T. McAvoy, B. Lindal, B. Bone and Betty Anderson.

SURPRISE SHOWER

The Victoria Girls' Drill Team honored one of its members, Mrs. Thomas Saunders, the former Miss Edith Pussey, at a surprise shower at the home of Mrs. May Pussey, 547 Manchester Road. Those present were the Misses Mary Williams, Myrtle Okeil, Ruth Boyd, Roseann Renfrew, Vera Curtis, Evelyn McLaren, Ann Fife, Muriel Jennings, Margaret Greasey, Shirley Switzer, Maureen Smith, Eileen Leckie, Betty Collis, Joey Tessaro, Eileen Harling, Alma Homan, Valerie McAllister and Dorothy Poppewell.

Future Captains of Industry Display Product

Abundance of spare time produced by Summer holidays sets youngsters' hands to tinkering. Wooden truck, pictured above, was made by holidaying children who thought they would like to have some mode of transportation for vacation. Residents in vicinity of Townley Street and Foul Bay Road are familiar with truck which was built recently by Ronald Trickett, 12, 2804 Foul Bay Road; Ray Wilkie, Richmond Road, and another boy, identified only as "Alex." Pictured above are Ronald, driving; Laddie, the dog; Wayne Robertson, 2841 Foul Bay Road, on side, and Tom Leason, 1970 Newton Street, on top. Truck is operated strictly by "pushpower and pullpower"—splendid. Tan cans make headlights and staunch piece of window glass is used for windshield. Three spare wheels are carried, plus goggles, handsaw and oil can.

Alcohol Education Success

British Columbia's alcohol education program in schools is a success, according to officials of the Department of Education.

The school year just concluded was the first in which the program was operating at full scale and officials said the results have been very encouraging.

The department so far has received not a single complaint.

Aim of the program is to deal with the problem of alcohol, its use and abuse, wherever it naturally falls into present subjects of the curriculum. It enters into social studies, health, science and history. No attempt is made to deal with it as a separate subject.

It now enters the school program at Grade VII and continues until Grade XII.

St. Paul's Carnival Slated for Saturday

St. Paul's Anglican Church annual carnival, which was postponed owing to rain, will be held at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in Memorial Park, Esquimalt.

Rev. H. H. Greal will open the affair. The baby contest, a success last year, is expected to prove a big attraction.

Culbertson on Bridge

Copyright 1950, by Ely Culbertson

Two well-known experts had quite an argument over the meaning of a bid in today's deal:

North, dealer.

North-South vulnerable.

NORTH

▲ K J 10 8 4

♥ K 5 3 2

♦ A K

♣ Q 8

WEST

▲ Q

♥ 10 7 6 4

♦ Q J 8 5 4 3

EAST

▲ 7 3 2

♦ 10 9 5

♣ K J 5

SOUTH

▲ A 9 6 5

♣ 10 9 7 6 4 3 2

This deal occurred in a match-point duplicate game, and at the table where our experts sat North and South, the bidding proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♦ Pass 2 ♦ 3 ♦

3 ♦ 4 ♦ 4 ♦ (1) Pass

Pass (1) Pass

East and West were not stupid—they knew a good thing when they had one, and so both passed with straight-faces to the four-heart call.

West opened a diamond, and South came out with exactly three tricks—two diamonds and one spade—and thus suffered a 700-point penalty, undoubted. This was one hand, at least, on which East-West did not have to worry about getting a "top"—they outclassed the field!

North and South, however, had a few things to say to each other. Their remarks—expurgated—ran as follows:

South: "Don't you know a cue bid when you hear one?"

North: "That wasn't a cue bid, necessarily. You could have been too weak for two hearts over one spade, but wanted to show the suit finally. Maybe you had raised on only three spades and were looking for a safer contract."

South: "Rather unlikely. I made two bids. If my hand justified them, then I must have enough to have called two hearts over one spade. And, anyway, everything pointed to the fact that we had agreed on spades. You should have been at least suspicious of the heart bid, and in self-protection gone back to spades."

North: "You shouldn't have made such an ambiguous bid."

And so the discussion ended—on the usual note of disagreement.

Obviously, South bid the hearts because he expected the non-vulnerable enemy to save at diamonds, and wanted to beat them adequately by getting a heart lead which he could ruff. True, his bid was somewhat ambiguous, but, everything considered, North should have gone back to spades.

YANCOUVER, July 11 (CP)—Tommy Anderson through Vancouver forum tonight and it was an ominous sound to Richmond Kerrisdale. They were massacred 15-9 in their first-city lacrosse war with North Shore Indians.

Minus their rough and ready warrior, Henderson, Anderson and Peterson, the Tribe still managed to make the game into a Donnybrook reminiscent of the Cree and the Blackfoot.

FAST START
Starting fast on goals by G. Anderson, Gordon Nickel and Eddie Brill, Indians went ahead 3-0 after three minutes of play. Goals by Bill Hannula and Bill Harris for Richmond made the score 4-2 for Indians at the quarter.

Stan Joseph, the only real redskin on the team, turned in a major part of his "hot" night in the second quarter, shutting out Kerrisdale while his errand Indians notched two goals.

Mooneys Edge McPhersons

A single run in the top of the ninth inning gave Mooney a keenly contested 5-4 victory over McPherson's Decorators in a Men's Senior "B" Softball League contest at Bullen Park last night.

McPhersons took a 2-2 lead in the fourth inning with a three-run outburst highlighted by Albie Williams' two-run homer. Mooney went ahead again in the top of the seventh when Suggs stroked in a two-run circuit swing, only to see the Decorators deadlock the count, 4-4, in their half of the frame on George Nicholas' home run.

City Junior Golf Crown Goes to John Merriman

Gorge Vale's John Merriman replaced clubmate Bob Fleming as city junior golf champion on Sunday when he negotiated his home course in a pair of 76's for a winning, 36-hole total of 150. Fleming panned the junior age limit this year, and was unable to defend his title.

In second place, despite a blaring finish, was Terry Burns, son of Fred Burns, pro at the Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club. Burns tore the rugged Gorge layout a split in the afternoon, to register 71, believed to be a competitive record from the back tee. However, Burns had a shaky 88 on the first 18 holes and wound up four strokes behind Merriman.

SECOND TIME
It was the second time within a few days that Burns had just missed a championship because of a poor start. In the British Columbia junior championships at Vancouver last week, he finished fast in the final 36 holes but fell one stroke short of catching Laurie Roland, the defending champion.

W. Johnson, an 18-handicapper from Uplands Golf Club, captured net honors in the tournament. Johnson turned in a fine performance to record a 79 on even par, which, with his handicap, gave him a remarkable net score of 132.

T. Bradshaw received the award for the youngest player in the tournament.

Other scores follow: T. Harris 161, T. McIlven 168, J. Bigelow 172, R. Hopkins 173, R. Appeler 174, R. Shea 175, T. Rimmer 180, D. Lister 189, A. McCabe 197, D. Burley 216, T. Bradshaw 220.

Tennis Enthusiasm Exceeds Expectations

Enthusiasm for city playground tennis instruction program far exceeded expectations of officials when more than 150 boys and girls turned out for first class at Stadcona Park yesterday afternoon. Parks Commissioner Herbert Warren (extreme left) watches approvingly as Playground Director Gordon Harley (foreground) outlines program for youngsters. Instructors Gerry Koski and Ed Kelter are at extreme right. Classes will be held each Tuesday and Thursday at 2 p.m. at Stadcona Park.

Few Will See Jake LaMotta Defend Crown

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP)—In an atmosphere of widespread disinterest, Jake LaMotta will lay his middleweight boxing crown on the line tomorrow night and let himself be taken out by a challenger.

LaMotta's first defence of the title he won 12 months ago in Detroit on a Mike, when the late Marcel Cerdan lost the use of an arm, will draw one of the feeblest crowds ever to witness a title fight in New York.

Madison Square Garden is expected to be no more than half-filled, even though for one of the first times in the past 25 years there will be neither a radio broadcast nor telecast of the championship fight.

The New Yorker who holds the tarnished title in a 12-10-5 favorite tonight over Mike, though Mike has had only one fight in this country, and most of his fame is based on the fact that he married Miss Italy.

In fact, so little is known about Mike, who is a substitute for Rocky Graziano, that the drop in the original good odds against him has caused wild speculations and rumors among the average fight blokes of the city.

Line-up for the Beacon Hill cricket team to play the Colts at Beacon Hill at 2:30 p.m. today, follows: J. Oakman, T. Oakman, Shanks, Gardiner, Napper, Bowkell, Parker, Harper, Brad, Lewis.

Mrs. W. Perry was the winner of the silver division in the women's medal competition at the Victoria Golf Club yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. E. E. Watson was the victor in bronze division play.

Daring Drivers' Stunts Thrill Speedway Crowd

What a way to make a living... That was the opinion of most of the 5,000-odd spectators who packed Langford Speedway last night to watch Joe Chitwood's driving daredevil go through their paces.

For two solid hours of fast-moving entertainment the show thrilled the spectators. Even the clowns were in on the act—complete with a small car and motorcycle.

The feature event was staged by two Hollywood stunt men, Shorty McAndrew and Harry Willman. McAndrew drove a high-powered suet car up a ramp, into the air for 66 feet to land on a second ramp at the other end. Willman, meanwhile, drove through the space between the two ramps. They both made it.

EVEN BETTER
Some fans thought the head-on crash between two old model cars even better. The drivers weren't pulling any punches in the act although every precaution for their safety was taken. Ted Scott and Willman pulled off the act without a hitch—except for a fire. They hit head-on right in front

Artillery Unit Sets Mat Card In Aid of Fund

With proceeds to go in aid of the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund, the 7th (B.C.) M.A.A. Regiment R.C.A. (R.P.) will present a six-hour wrestling show at Bay Street Armoury on Saturday, July 22, at 8 p.m.

Local grappling talent will be featured on the program, with Cliff Parker of Vancouver the lone out of town performer scheduled to appear. Parker is matched with Nuk Harris in the main event, a heavy-weight set to over a one-hour time limit or best-of-three falls.

The Speller brothers will participate in three of the contests. Roy Speller, 135 lbs., will take on Mike Speller, 135 lbs., in the semi-final. Roy Speller is the opening bout and Murray Speller will take on Mike Speller in the 150-pound second main.

Mona La Berger and Betty Elshaw are slated to appear in a women's exhibition that follows the third encounter between Dick Watson and Jim Singh.

Remember When..

A crowd of 5,000, the largest ever to attend a Canadian swimming meet, saw Hamilton's Irene Barr set a mark of 1:04.2 in the junior women's 100-yard free style at Verdun, Que., ten years ago today. A month later she broke her own record by going the distance in 1:03.4.

Hamilton Richardson, 16-year-old boy wonder, upset Davis Cup star Ted Schroeder, 4-4, 6-3, in an exhibition match at the Western tennis championships in Indianapolis last night.

Quebec has a brand-new Willingdon Cup team and all four members are in their 20's. R. B. Hall, 20, Canadian junior champion in 1949, is the youngest. Other members are Joe LeBlanc, 26, Johnny Pearson who plays hockey for the Boston Bruins, and Joe Doo.

All Top-Seeded Players Move to Quarter-Finals

Play in the city lawn tennis championship tournament at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club advanced to the quarter-finals last night with the top seven seedings intact in the men's singles.

Favored Jack Millidge reached the round of eight at the expense of Bill Dunbar, 6-3, 6-2. Second-seeded Carl Brand overcame 4-3 deficits in both sets to beat Jim McArthur, 6-4, 6-4. In a baseline duel and seventh-seeded Rex Jackson eliminated Warren Cameron in surprisingly easy

Speaking Briefly

Vancouver golf experts warn that the British Columbia Willingdon Cup team won't likely finish better than second in the annual inter-provincial tourney. Ontario rates as the outstanding choice.

Albert Quisley, old-time lacrosse star, died in Vancouver Monday.

The ten-round non-title fight between Lightweight Champion Lee Williams and Sugar Costner was postponed for the second straight time at Philadelphia last night. It rained again.

Canada will enter 15 to 25 Jewish athletes for the first time in the third Maccabiah Games in Israel, September 25 to October 9. Jewish athletes from 28 countries will compete in the event, drawn on the pattern of the Olympic and British Empire games.

Karl Valdemar, starting tackle for the Hamilton Tigers for the past three seasons, has been signed by the Edmonton Eskimos.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers yesterday announced the signing of Jack Jacobs, former Oklahoma quarterback who starred with Cleveland Browns in pro football.

VANCOUVER, July 11 (CP)—Priorities advanced as expected the first round of match play in British Columbia Women's Championship at Point Grey course here today.

Marine Drive's Baba, Day medalist Monday with a four-on-82, posted the most lopsided
victory as she eliminated Mrs. C.
Harris of Victoria 9 and 7.
Baba meets Victoria's Margie
Todd in one quarter-final match tomorrow. Miss Todd, who had an immaculate record, was defeated in a qualifying round Monday, defeating Capilano's Kay Farrell 2 up to 0.

MRS. TODD ADVANCES

Mrs. Margaret Todd of Oak Ridge, defending champion, advanced to the quarter-finals with a 5 and 4 victory over Mrs. J. McIlraith of Vancouver Capilano.

Mrs. Todd will meet Miss F. DuSart of Shaughnessy tomorrow. The latter defeated Mrs. B. Ross.

of Marine Drive 4 and 3.
Mrs. Tom Dunlop, of Point Grey, who eliminated Winifred Evans, Shaughnessy 3 and 1, will meet M. Gilbert Barnett, also of Point Grey.

Lincolns surged in front, T-6 at the three-quarter breather and pumped three times to a single reply, the final canto.

SCORE TWICE

Al Denoni, T Kerr and J

...in each scored twice for the winner: while Al Hudson notched two runners for Paul Bay.

Navy displayed some of their best baseball of the season to hold the Bears to a 3-2 lead at half-time.
...weakened in the final innings to drop their 15th decision.

A's Absorb 13-0 Drubbing in Finale After Mishasek Wins Opening Game, 4-3

HOW THEY STAND	W	L	Pts
Yakima	11	0	22
Beaver	11	0	22

Yakima Bears absorbing their 13-0 loss in the final game of the season with the Vancouver Athletics. The Bears' regular season record was 11-0, but they were defeated 13-0 in the final game.

Manager Marty King, looking to give his regular starters an extra day of rest with five games and on top this week, tried to get by with Warren, Nicks, and the second team. The young right-hander was the usual contest trouble and went out in the third with the bag-loaded and trailing by four runs. He grooved a pitch to Fenney, Masera being a walk and a single in the second inning and a single in the third. Fenney hit for all the runs. Bradford needed.

WILKIE TAKEN OVER

Aiden Wilkie took over and got by nearly until the eighth when five runs, three of the infant variety, and a beat by Moore gave the Bears five additional runs. John Wilkie, 17-year-old Kamloops youngster, made his first professional appearance in the ninth and kept up the final three runs. Obviously a hit, the young southpaw didn't look too bad.

He talked over his batter, another who whiffed two tribulations in between three singles and a back and forth needed to be called by the umpires.

Meanwhile the A's found no nothing with Bradford. Showing an excellent curve and a live fast ball, Bradford was always ahead of the hitters. He struck out 11 batters, the Victoria hit over as many times and didn't walk a man.

The series winds up tonight with Jim Hedges set to pitch for Victoria. His opposition will probably be Lloyd Moore, unless Manager Joe Crivello decides to keep his southpaw prospect for the ensuing series with Vancouver.

Greco Smacks Two Homers, Double, Single

Dick Greco, leading hitter of the W.I., sent on another rampage last night to beat his batting mark. The big Tacoma outfielder hit his 18th and 19th home runs, a double and a single in five trips and batted in six runs to lead the Tigers to a 20-3 win over Spokane Indians at Tacoma. Greco's leading R.F.I. total now stands at 81 and his batting average at .370.

At Salem, Jay Ragni pitched Weathere Chiefs into second place as he outduelled Ray McNulty of the Seabrooks, 2-0. Single runs in the first and ninth innings, batted in by Walt Poretsky and Don Fracchia, won it for the Chiefs.

In the other game, Tri-City Braves came from behind with four runs in the eighth to beat the H up and then edged Vancouver Capilano, 6-5. The left-handed slugger on the Tri-City club again found Capilano Stadium to their liking, hitting their fourth fifth and sixth home runs of the series. Dick Faber hit one over in the second and Nick Peula's three-run smash sent the game into extra innings. Clint Cameron then won it with another four-matter.

Two Victorians Advance To Golf Quarter-Finals

VANCOUVER, July 11 (CP)—Patriotes advanced as expected in the first round of qualifying for the British Columbia Women's Golf Championships at Point Grey course here today.

Marilyn Dickson, Babe Davies, medalist Monday with a four-over-82, posted the most improved victory as she eliminated Mrs. C. E. Harris of Victoria, 9 and 7.

Babe Davies, Victoria's Marguerite Todd in one quarter-final match tomorrow. Miss Todd, who had an 88 qualifying round Monday, defeated Capilano's Kay Farrell 2 up today.

MRS. TODD ADVANCES
Mrs. Margaret Todd of Oak Bay, defending champion advanced to the quarter-finals with a 5 and 4 victory over Mrs. J. McIlraith of Vancouver Capilano.

Mrs. Todd will meet Miss F. Duff, Stuart of Shaughnessy tomorrow. The latter defeated Mrs. R. Renwick of Marine Drive 4 and 3.

Mrs. Tom Dunlop of Point Grey, who eliminated Winnipeg's Evans of Shaughnessy, 3 and 1, will meet Mrs. Gilbert Garnett, also of Point Grey.

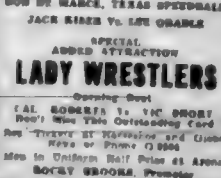

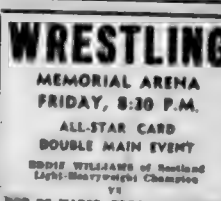

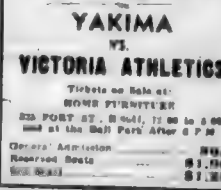

In the third quarter-final, Mrs. Garneil eliminated Mrs. F. W. Carmichael of Point Grey, 5 and 3.

In the fourth quarter-final, Mrs. Bruce Evans of Capilano opposes Mrs. Irene Edwards of Fraser-Spokane. Mrs. Evans won over Point Grey's Mrs. Robert Clark on the 19th hole.

Mrs. Edwards defeated Capilano's Mrs. J. Campbell 5 and 4.

FAN FARE

Fans Not Disappointed

Moments of Eddie Feigner's amazing ability turned 1100 fans out to Marston Park last night for his second appearance before Victoria fans. He did not disappoint them as his four-man softball team pinned 5-3 defeat on hard-hitting Brentwood Aces, although he was limited to eight at-bats. He blanked Area until final inning when Brian Blingert broke shutout with home run. Area added two more runs but John Purniman popped up with tying runs on sacks above. Feigner (right) talks with Catcher Mead Kinsler before game.

The Sportlight

By GRANTLAND RICE

Any baseball about looking around for a tip might keep his eye adjusted to the Par West. In a series of highly erratic play in the two major leagues, the Pacific Coast sector is moving up in class.

Ted Williams, the DiMaggio brothers, Joe Gordon and Bobby Doerr head the list of stars now registered from Western fields and a new crop is now about due. Here is a report from George Steyer, who usually has most of the answers:

"Dear Grant: This season's Pacific Coast League baseball has been far more interesting and more like big-league ball than in any year since we've been out here. Big reason would seem to be due directly to high quality rookies stealing limelight from former major league stars and yet the majors are putting on such brilliant displays you wonder why they were ever let go.

"All this adds up to something potent at the box office except in Hollywood and Los Angeles, and their sharply lower 'take' can be written off as too much generosity by the respective managements in permitting all home games to be televised.

"No television at all in Portland or Seattle and only sporadic airings in Oakland, Sacramento, San Francisco and San Diego. The Los Angeles area is rated as having more television sets in home use than in any other city in the nation on a population basis and now those home viewers' absence from the grandstands has hurt. All vaunting teams squawk louder and harder on this point than they seem to do on being 'robbed' by umpires.

Kindfather Touted

"General feeling indicates Seattle has the best rookie left-hander in Vern Kinderslayer, closely followed by Hollywood's Ken Lehman, both of whom are surely overhand choppers, possessing blazing speed, fine control, youth (23), and coolness of experienced major leaguers although neither has ever played higher than AAA and, for pitchers, are fine fielders and unusually good batters.

"The cream of the rookie right-handers are George Zverink, San Diego, and Bob Drilling, Portland.

"The oldsters, down from the majors, are pitching in grand form especially Clyde Shoun and Groth of Oakland, both of whom look good enough to go back in tomorrow.

"The batting averages out here are swollen, so I think, by Santa Clara scores except in the case of Frankie Baumgartner, Los Angeles, .444, Chuck Stevens, Hollywood (former St. Louis Browns), .386, Artie Wilson, Oakland, .353, and Henry Munson, San Diego, .340.

"Over-all, I have the impression of watching two great major-league shortstop prospects in James Poch, Oakland, and Buddy Ricks, Hollywood, a superb second baseman in Gene Handley, Hollywood, the best first baseman on the scene from the minors in Chuck Stevens, Hollywood. Hollywood's showing so far feels entirely on its infield defensive brilliance. They have the best invertebrate seen outside of big time."

All that can be said is that both big leagues are in desperate need of new talent. Apparently there are not enough big-league ballplayers to round out 16 clubs.

The West Coast has about a fourth of the total of operations and it may be even more important in the years immediately ahead. After all, most of the headlines came from the land of the setting sun.

Lorne Main, Henri Rochon Vie For Davis Cup Singles Rating

MONTREAL, July 11 (CP)—Vancouver's Lorne Main and Montreal's Henri Rochon battled it out in a practice tennis match today for the No. 1 singles spot on Canada's Davis Cup team, but after each had won a set the issue remained undecided.

No. 1 singles position on the team which will meet Australia in the North American zone here, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, will almost certainly go to Brendan Macken. The 27-year-old Montrealer on Monday defeated Rochon, top-ranking Canadian player, in three practice sets. In last year's Davis Cup matches with Australia he scored Canada's only victory.

Holds Announcement

Gordie MacNeil, Canada's non-playing captain, will not announce his two lead-off singles players until the draw Thursday.

Main, who won four sets with Australian Billy Sidwell in a singles match last year in a hot favorite with the gallery for the second singles spot. The 26-year-old ambitious player nearly scored an upset victory at Montreal last winter in a match with Billy Talbot of the United States, third-ranking world player.

Rochon was the first of today's practice sets, 7-6, and Main came back to score a 6-4 victory in the second.

Main broke through repeatedly on Rochon's service, while the little French-Canadian was equally effective against Main's offensive.

MacNeil told the boys to quit playing after two sets.

Meanwhile, the Aussies went through a strenuous session of

Red's Swamp Allsorts, 11-1, Lengthen Lead

Red's Service unleashed a 12-hit assault behind the two-hit twinning of Dora Jones to swamp the Aliboras, 11-1, at Lower Central last night. Winners clinched first place in the Women's Softball League with their victory.

Only three Aliboras batters reached first base. Mrs. Jones let her shutout in the opening frame when her only base on balls and a safety by Ruth Peterson produced the losers' lone tally. She struck out six.

Nationals Shatter Myth, Win Extra-Inning Game

By KEN OSTEIN

CHICAGO, July 11 (INS).—The National League shattered a growing myth of American League invincibility today by winning the 17th annual major league all-star baseball game, 4 to 2, on Red Schoendienst' 14th-inning home run.

It was the first extra-inning game in all-star history.

The 27-year-old second baseman for the St. Louis Cardinals whacked the game-winning blow—into the upper decks of the left-field bleachers, some 300 feet from home plate.

Schoendienst' homer, before 46,127 screaming fans in Chicago's Comiskey Park, brought the National League to its first triumph since 1944 and ended a five-game losing streak.

Earlier in the game, Jensen produced the greatest all-star game pitching performance since 1934 when Carl Hubbell fanned six dangerous American League hitters.

Jensen baffled the berated American League hitters for five innings and gave them only one hit. He struck out Coleman, Hegan, Ted Williams, George Kell, Larry Doby and Art Houtteman.

Ordinarily a pitcher in an all-star game is restricted to three innings of play. Since the game was tied at the end of nine, however, it was legal for Jensen to continue. Duke Snider, batted for the 30-year-old pitcher in the 10th inning.

The five National League pitchers who saw action limited the American League hitters to eight hits. Robin Roberts started on the mound. Then came big Don Newcombe, Jim Konstanty, Jensen and Hickwell.

For a time it seemed that the fabulous Ted Williams had put the whammy on the National League again. History was about to repeat itself. The angle in the fifth inning scored Larry Doby to give the American League a one-run margin which seemed safe enough until the 14th.

Bill the American League had a chance in the last of the 14th. Ferris Fain of the Philadelphia Athletics angled after one man was out and then the once-great Joe DiMaggio came in but with his followers pleading for a run.

The Yankee outfielder overcame hearing the end of his career, simply couldn't respond—he hit into a double play to end the game.

Golf—Here's How

By SAM SNEAD
Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

In the good golf swing your weight is forward. This permits you to swing down to the ball most effectively and bring the club-face into contact with the ball in the correct way to secure the flight each particular club is intended to produce. Today's golfer is swinging into an iron shot. At this moment his feet are flat on the ground, providing a firm base, and both arms fully extended. His head has been held immovable throughout the swing and his left shoulder is starting to rise. This permits his right shoulder to pivot under the chin, after the ball, in a full, sweet follow-through. You must be in a position to swing without losing your balance. This calls for a good, firm foot-grip on the ground.

Mrs. Mike, Symphony Performance
Authoress, In Concert Superlative

When a letter turned up in Los Angeles addressed simply to "Mrs. Mike, Hollywood," postal officials didn't even scratch their heads. They just sent it along to Katherine Mary Flannigan.

In Victoria Monday, Mrs. Flannigan told of the 30 years it took her to sell "Mrs. Mike," and of the sudden fame and fortune that have deluged her since.

"Mrs. Mike" was the wife of a young Canadian Mountie, as anyone knows who has read the Literary Guild novel, seen the Evelyn Keyes-Dick Powell movie, or heard the Lux Radio Theatre adaptation.

Titled "Havana Kellee," her forthcoming novel is a story of life in Ireland, where Mrs. Flannigan was born. It is to be published in a month.

Superlative was the word for last night's performance by Hans Gruber and the Victoria Symphony Orchestra of Beethoven's First Symphony in C Major.

The orchestra played a special "prom" concert for an estimated 350 teachers attending the Summer School of Education at Victoria High School.

It was Mr. Gruber's last Victoria performance of the season and—in the opinion of some—his best.

High point of the evening was the Beethoven symphony, played with great clarity and richness of expression. In the first two movements, Mr. Gruber's crisp beat held the orchestra solidly together through the difficult tempo changes.

Another highlight was the beautiful "Menuetto" passage of the third movement, which was notable for the fine phrasing of the violins. The melodic final movement was superbly played.

Another highlight was the beautiful "Night Soliloquy," for solo flute and string orchestra, by Kent Kennan. Flautist Maurice Crawford's sensitive solo was backed with admirable restraint.

Also on the program for the reduced 60-piece orchestra were the symphonic poem "Les Preludes," by Franz Liszt, the "Academic Festival" overture of Brahms, Strauss' "Blue Danube" waltz and "Pizzicato" polka, and the Slavonic Dance No. 8, by Antonin Dvorak.

PRIZE CATCH

Landings of 16,403,000 pounds of halibut in the last season completed one of the most prosperous takes ever for fishermen of the North Coast, according to reports from Prince Rupert. Higher prices this year made the catch, smaller than 1949's total of 16,600,000, a prize one.

FINE PHRASING

The beautiful "Menuetto" passage of the third movement were notable for the fine phrasing of the violins. The melodic final movement was superbly played.

Orangemen to Recall Boyne
With Picnic in Willows Park

Victoria and Island Orangemen mark the traditional July 12 ride of "King Billy" with a monster picnic at Willows Park which is scheduled to begin at 3 p.m. today.

County Master J. E. Branson, Island representative of the Grand Lodge, will act as chairman of the men's groups. There will be no speakers or parade this year.

Groups attending the picnic include the Loyal Orange, Ladies' Orange Benevolent and Juvenile Orange Association, Loyal True Blues, Royal Black Preceptory, six men's lodges and four ladies' lodges.

Today's celebrations mark the 260th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, in which the troops of King William III or Orange routed the Irish partisans.

'The Mad Marshall'

"Can I have another hot-dog, Daddy???" Can I have some more Pop, Daddy???" This has always been Trudie's idea of a baseball game—that is, until last Monday night. THAT was the night Mr. John Marshall took over the Royal Athletic Park, and showed us all that professional baseball belongs partly to the entertainment world as well as to the world of sports, and that a bit of camaraderie between performer and audience is only good showmanship, if not a great part of the satisfaction of the game.

"The MAD MARSHALL" so completely captivated our youngest, that I got out of that ball park without practically forgetting, as Trudie, in all the excitement forgot about hot-dogs and pop. Any baseball player that can make a child completely forget her tummy sure has "got something on the ball." It's rather odd, but our oldest after the game, "but did you ever notice, Daddy, that all the stars that ever amount to much are a natural sort of people? Like Bing Crosby, and Arthur Godfrey, and all are modest and do simple sort of things, but everyone loves 'em for it. Sure, they may understand 'timing' and things like that, but they always seem so relaxed, and as if they didn't give a darn, and that's what Mr. Marshall has too."

"Yeah," I answered, "I think that's the secret, but it's more than that, too... it's a sort of natural rhythm plus the ability to NOT take oneself too seriously, out of which comes a natural sense of humor."

"Yeah," I answered, "I think that's the secret, but it's more than that, too... it's a sort of natural rhythm plus the ability to NOT take oneself too seriously, out of which comes a natural sense of humor."

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

Grandfather was a thrifty soul but how he gambled!

In fact, once upon a time, all business men who advertised were, willing or unwilling, confirmed speculators. They couldn't help it, because in those days they had no way of knowing what they would get for their money.

Today, advertising money can be invested on a basis of facts—the information in the reports of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, a national, cooperative and non-profit association of 3300 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers. The A.B.C., organized in 1914, has established standards for measuring the circulation of newspapers and periodicals, just as there are definite standards for the weights and measures of merchandise.

This newspaper is a member of A.B.C. Our circulation is audited by experienced circulation auditors. The information thus obtained is issued in A.B.C. reports which show how much circulation we have, where it goes, how it was obtained and other facts that tell business men what they get for their money when they advertise in these columns.

Ask for a copy of our A.B.C. report.

Provincial Police Search Sarita River for Logger

PORT ALBERNI, July 11.—Sgt. J. Branton and Cpl. William Currie of the Provincial Police returned from Sarita River where they investigated the disappearance of Arthur Roe O'Neill, 48, from the camp of Blodet, Stewart & Welch, Ltd.

O'Neill, reported to have been suffering from stomach trouble, left his bunkhouse at 1 a.m. on July 8, and has not been seen since.

Friends presume that he fell from the dock into Alberni Canal, but no clue has been uncovered to substantiate the belief.

Novel Defence Fails to Work

DUNCAN, July 11.—William H. Herron, a Denman Island logger, was sentenced to serve seven days in jail on a charge of being in control of an automobile while intoxicated. He was arrested last Sunday when police found him parked south of White Bridge over Cowichan River near Duncan.

Constable W. G. Lambert, one of the arresting officers, told the court that the accused had insisted that the police car was his own vehicle. Dr. Raymond Duncan, called by Constable D. G. Thompson, testified that he had examined Herron at the police station and came to the conclusion he was drunk.

Accused was represented by D. G. Williams, who told the magistrate that Herron had not slept for 22 hours before he was arrested. He claimed sleeplessness, followed with light drinking, could produce symptoms similar to intoxication. The magistrate fined Andrew Andrewchuk, Lake Cowichan, $10 and costs, in default 10 days, for creating a disturbance by swearing. Andrewchuk was arrested in a Lake Cowichan hotel. He pleaded guilty and agreed to be placed on the indictment list.

Club Members Visit Lookout

QUALICUM BEACH, July 10.—A group of hardy members of the Qualicum Beach Alpine Club made a trip to the Spider Lake Forest lookout near Home Lake.

Hikers were entertained by Robert Tennant, who described the surrounding country to them. They were the first visitors Mr. Tennant had seen for two months.

At a recent meeting of the Alpine Club, a resolution was prepared to be forwarded to the parks board of the B.C. Forest Service, asking that the Cathedral Grove sign be re-erected at MacMillan Park for the convenience of tourists who are not acquainted with the new name for the famous stand of timber. A public ceremony will be held in the near future when a new sign being prepared by the club is erected at the entrance to the Mount Arrowsmith trail.

Dedicate Coombs Church

COOMBS, July 11.—A congregation of nearly 100 persons attended solemn dedication services conducted at the new Coombs United Church.

Rev. Dr. W. P. Bunt, superintendent of missions and president of the British Columbia Conference of the United Church, preached an inspiring sermon. Dr. Bunt congratulated Rev. H. P. Davidson and his parishioners on the construction of the fine building. Miss Margaret Young presided at the organ, and anthems were sung by the Coombs Choir, Mrs. J. Maurice sang "Bless this House."

Rev. J. A. Donnell of Nanaimo and Rev. E. R. Fleming, secretary of Victoria Presbytery of the United Church, also preached. Assisting in the musical program were members of St. Stephens Choir from Qualicum, with Mrs. Douglas Smith, Qualicum, and Dr. Douglas Kirkbride of Nanaimo as soloists. Petitions were received by Mr. Davidson from several church groups and special guests. In voicing his congratulations, Mr. Fleming said he considered it fitting that Mr. Davidson, who is retiring this month, should conclude his 40 years as a minister by officiating at the opening of a new church in his parish.

Court Imposes Month in Jail

DUNCAN, July 11.—James McDonald, Lake Cowichan, was sentenced by Magistrate G. A. Tisdall in Duncan police court to serve one month in prison on a charge of driving his automobile while intoxicated. His driver's licence was also suspended for one month. Evidence was given by Constable George Phillips, Provincial Police.

Mark Highway

PARKSVILLE, July 10.—The road-marking outfit has been repainting lines which had become indistinct, and painting new sections of highway. Traffic lines, which were introduced here after the new highways were put through, are a great aid to motorists, particularly at night, as the paint used has luminous qualities.

Qualicum Sets Annual Event

QUALICUM BEACH, July 11.—Final plans are being made for the third annual horse show and gymkhana to be staged under joint sponsorship of the Qualicum Beach Rotary Club and the Silver Spur Horse and Riding Association. The setting for the show, which will commence at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, The large number of entries received indicate a bigger and better show than ever.

Horse fanciers can be assured of seeing fine jumping and other events by some of the best riders and horses on the Island. There will be many novelty features and children's classes.

Athletic Club Holds Sports

GANGES, July 11.—Annual field day of the Salt Spring Island Athletic Club on the grounds of Mahoi West was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Treford. Mrs. Charles Heugen, Miss Joyce Coates, Edward Bishop, George Hurd and William Reid.

Cups for foot races and jumping went to Marjorie Childstone, George Henn, Dorothy Doda, Jean St. Denis and Kay Wood. Salt Spring Island girls defeated a softball team from Royal Oak 26-16, and a team of elderly men beat a younger aggregation 10-1. Sideshows, games of chance and refreshment booths were opened. A dance was held in the evening. Proceeds of the field day will be devoted toward a fund for a new clubhouse.

Weather Forecasts

East Coast of Vancouver Island—Sunny, clouding over this evening. A little warmer. Light winds.
West Coast of Vancouver Island—Cloudy. Occasional rain this morning in northern section. Little change in temperature. Light winds.

COMMUNITY HALL DANCE

PARKSVILLE, July 11.—Parksville Community Hall will hold a dance in the Community Hall at 10 p.m. on July 21.

Officers Drag Alberni Canal for Missing Workman

PORT ALBERNI, July 11.—The man reported to have jumped off the city dock here last Saturday night is believed by Provincial Police to be Peter Popowich of Alberni, an ex-soldier, aged 28 years. Popowich, a workman at one of the local mills, had been on compensation due to an injury to his left hand.

Ganges Greets New Minister

GANGES, July 11.—An induction service for Rev. John G. G. Bompas was conducted by Rev. William Allan, Victoria, and Rev. E. S. Fleming, Sidney, in Ganges United Church.

Following the service, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Mount, Ganges Hill, where the whole congregation had the opportunity of meeting and welcoming to the Island the new pastor and his wife.

A committee of members in charge of refreshments assisted the hostess during the evening, and at a lace-covered table decorated with roses, tea was poured by Mrs. William Allan.

Propose Picnic

PORT ALBERNI, July 11.—Employees of the Port Alberni post office will join staffs of the Nanaimo post office and other Island offices during a picnic at Rathtrevor Beach on Sunday. Members of the local staff are doing everything to make the affair a success, and are hoping it will be made an annual event.

Organize Sale

QUALICUM BEACH, July 11.—A large number of items are being collected for the Rotary Club auction of gifts to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Burney on the afternoon of July 22. Tea will also be served.

Crews Ready for Blazes

PARKSVILLE, July 11.—The B.C. Forest Service station at Parksville is undergoing extensive landscaping, and Summer crews are creating a parklike area. The staff now consists of the chief ranger, R. J. Glasford; two assistants, Larry Ormond and Henry Olson; a dispatcher, Calvin Easterbrook, and a suppression crew of ten with Robert Reeke of Vancouver in charge.

There are also three lookout men. J. Thyness at Little Mountain, R. Arnason at Bowser, and Robert Tennant at Spider Lake lookout. This last named lookout station was completed last year, and the construction crews had to pack all the building equipment up a 1,000-foot hill on foot.

Despite the fact that the police have dragged the harbor for several days, no trace of the body has been found.

Two witnesses saw the man disappear from the end of the dock. As they were quite a distance from him, they were unable to get a description. Police are confident the man was Popowich. The search will be continued.

Port Veterans Collect Funds

PORT ALBERNI, July 11.—Port Alberni's Manitoba Flood Relief Fund, collected under auspices of Canadian Legion Branch, No. 55, closed with a total of $2,425.

Final contributions to the fund included $40 from Teen Town; $25.56 from a concert recital put on by Mrs. Jean Edmundson; and $105.92 from Woodward's Puppy Fund through the kindness of Peggy Watnow.

Nearly 80 members of the Alberni and Port Alberni Caledonian Societies attended the outing. David Auld of Port Alberni was in charge of the program, which included children's sports, a tug-of-war, and horseshoe pitching.

Collect Taxes

NANAIMO, July 11.—Figures compiled by the city assessor and collector showed that 86.02 per cent of the current property tax levy had been collected. Gross levy is $304,065, compared to $272,384 last year. Tax collections are expected to total 95 per cent before the end of the year.

Reports Car Prowled

DUNCAN, July 11.—W. H. Stayner, a visitor from Saskatoon, reported to Provincial Police that clothing and other articles valued at $190 had been stolen from his automobile.
